Gray Order Filed

NEW MADRID — A Missouri Supreme Court order affirming conviction and 60-year sentence of Dan Wesley Gray for the second degree murder Sept. 12, 1960, of a New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Cletus Phillips has been filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Van H. Sharp Jr.

The mandate also affirms the order of the circuit court overruling Gray's motion to vacate judgment and sentence.

Gray has been challenging his conviction through legal channels for 10 years. He was returned to New Madrid county by order of the supreme court in January of 1971 for a two- day hearing to present evidence on his charge that his statement given to highway patrol officers was not voluntary.

Following the hearing Judge William H. Billings ruled Gray's statement was given voluntarily after he had been advised of his rights, and that he had not been threatenend, coerced, mistreated or overpowered.

Peace Talks Suspended

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam indefinitely suspended the Vietnam peace conference today.

U.S. delegation chief William J. Porter told newsmen that South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, speaking for the allied side "did not agree to set a date for the next meeting."

Porter said the decision was made because of "a lack of progress in every available channel" of the peace talks.

North Vietnam at the outset of the 149th session ignored a U.S. demand that it halt its offensive in South Vietnam. The United States had made this issue the first order of business in resuming the talks last week, after suspending the negotiations for five weeks.

Porter said that the decision not to set a date for a new meeting was not altogether a result of today's session at which he said the Communist side "refused to answer any of our questions." His reference to lack of progress in every available channel was taken to mean that secret talks have also been going on.

North Vietnamese ambassador Xuan Thuy called the allied suspension of the talks a "new act of sabotage." He said the United States had refused to answer questions he had put to Porter asking when the United States would put an end to the bombings, its Vietnamization program, and "respond seriously" to the Viet Cong peace plan.

The stage was set for today's suspension last Thursday when Porter called on the North Vietnamese to discuss "as a first item of business" measures to end the North Vietnamese invasion of the South.

Thuy today ignored Porter's demand, saying talk of such an invasion was "sheer fabrication."

In his speech to the conference, Porter noted that Thuy had not replied to his demands, but then posed a series of new questions regarding settlement of the conference. He gave no indication in his speech what the allied side planned to suspend the conference. He called on the Communist side to "respond to these questions as precisely and as explicitly as you can."

Lasers Will Ease Load On Phone

By 1980 telephone wires will be used more by computers than by people, Dave Hargis, told the Lions club yesterday. Hargis is a public relations supervisor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

This extra usage will put strain on telephone facilities. Current coaxial cables handle up to 25,000 calls, plus the three television networks, the radio networks, and data transmission, all at one time, Davis said.

The only way to handle the future demand the computers will put on the facilities is by using lasers instead of cables to carry phone transmissions. Hargis demonstrated a laser which can carry up to 900 million telephone calls at one time.

The laser is a beam of light discovered eight years ago. The light can be controlled -- made powerful enough to blast through a diamond, or gentle enough for delicate eye surgery. The laser is finding wide applications in communications, medicine, manufacturing, aerospace, and the military.

The telephone laser will be transmitted through a cable made of optical fibers, Hargis said. The cable can turn the laser around corners without any loss of transmission.

Jones Warns Of Critical Gas Shortage

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marvin E. Jones, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, expressed concern Wednesday that a shortage of natural gas supplies would reach critical proportions by next winter unless federal regulations are changed.

Jones, in a letter to Missouri congressmen and senators in Washington, D. C., said special interests in the industry are convincing federal authorities that spiraling costs should be borne by consumers "that will approach the point of being intolerable."

Jones cited two factors contributing to the shortage—insufficient prices set by the Federal Power Commission and the diversion of gas for use within the producing states, where gas firms receive more for the gas than is possible under interstate levels.

The PSC already has ordered cutbacks in natural gas service to new customers in some parts of the state, setting up a system of priorities with new home development atop the list and new industrial or commercial users on an as-available basis.

Pipeline companies, he noted, are advocating the cessation of regulation of the gas supply supply, favoring a determination of price and supply in the market place.

Police Seek To Aid Bike Safety

There were 700 children killed in bicycle accidents last year in the United States. And although no children were killed in Sikeston, police are beginning a drive to improve bicycle safety.

The drive, being directed by Officer Richard Couch, will include a bicycle safety contest, lectures, and parent participation.

A bicycle rally will be held May 27 in the parking lot of the Kingsway Plaza Mall. There will be a decoration contest open for children from six to 14. Prizes will be awarded the winners and all bikes will be inspected by police.

Two bicycles will be given away. To be eligible, children must be between ages of eight and 14, have attended a safety lecture, and have a bicycle safety certificate.

Couch has given safety lectures to students at the Lee Hunter and Matthews schools and will speak at all schools before summer vacation.

He will also give a lecture at 10 a.m. Saturday in the police classroom on the third floor of the City Administrative Building for children who missed his lectures at the schools and for parents. Lectures will be held again May 13 and 20.

Couch says the program cannot succeed without parental help. It will be up to the parents to remind the children of safety laws, Couch says.

Prices Of Major U.S. Firms Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Prices charged by over half the nation's largest firms have been frozen, and the Price Commission is notifying the companies to file overdue reports or face price rollbacks and possible fines.

The commission, ordering the freeze Wednesday, estimated that nearly 1,600 firms have not filed reports on their economic status, the most recent of which were due Monday.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said the commission also will notify each delinquent firm that unless it files a report within five working days, the commission will cut its prices and ask the Justice Department to take court action that could lead to fines of up to $2,500.

Commission rules generally require firms with more than $50 million in yearly sales to file reports every three months. Firms that raise prices must give details, and firms that haven't must say so.

By last Monday, all such firms should have filed at least one report. Grayson estimated there are 2,954 firms required to file reports, but that only 1,375 have done so. He did not name the delinquent ones, but a commission spokesman said a list would be released in a few days.

Grayson also said the commission decided this week not to change regulations exempting food prices from President Nixon's economic controls, but will ask for stepped-up enforcement of existing rules and will watch food supplies closely to forecast possible problems.

The commission held public hearings on food costs a few weeks ago, and Grayson said action would be taken unless a sharp rise in food prices slackened. Since then, Grayson said, the commission has seen "sufficient easing" in food prices.

He announced also that the commission reaffirmed its rule limiting firms that desire to raise prices to specific profit margins. But it rejected, 4 to 2, a proposal to apply the profit margin limit to firms that have held prices steady, he said.

And he said a new regulation has gone into effect to require manufacturers to pass along productivity gains to customers as lower prices.

Harris Again Eludes Police

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Willie "WeWe" Harris has escaped again from police. This time it was yesterday afternoon in Cape Girardeau.

Harris escaped from two Sikeston policemen Sunday with the help of a woman and Harris' younger brother.

Harris is wanted on felonious assault charges stemming from the April 15 beating of a Benton man a the Community Club.

Harris was spotted walking down the street by four Cape Girardeau policemen and Scott County Sheriff's Deputy Dave Sander. Sander stepped out of the car in which they were riding and ordered Harris to stop.

He didn't. "All he showed me were his heels," Sander said. Harris darted between two buildings and disappeared.

Charleston police say they have been told Harris is believed to be heading for Charleston. They say he is now believed to be armed.

South Viet Launch Counterattack

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops launched their first counterattack today since the enemy began an offensive 36 days ago. At the same time, the government and the United States began a crash program aimed at reversing military defeats.

Several hundred South Vietnamese paratroopers made a combat assault in the central highlands in an effort to clear North Vietnamese from the Chu Pa mountain pass on Highway 14 between Kontum and Pleiku. They sought to reopen the highway, a vital supply route.

Field reports said 40 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the initial fighting.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Pleiku that the combat assault was made eight miles south of Kontum and 19 miles north of Pleiku.

The South Vietnamese paratroopers ran into enemy resistance shortly after being landed by helicopters and at dusk, fighting was still reported.

The Saigon command said fighting countrywide had slackened off to its lowest level of the North Vietnamese offensive. Sightings of truck convoys, however, indicated that the enemy was pausing again to regroup and resupply for another wave of assaults. The old imperial capital of Hue was believed the man target.

Ever since the enemy launched its offensive March 30, the South Vietnamese have been on the defensive, either retreating or barely holding onto positions.

The United States launched a top priority program to replace heavy South Vietnamese equipment losses sustained in a series of setbacks on the northern front and in the central highlands.

The first shipment of U.S.made M48 tanks overhauled in Japan arrived at the northern city of Da Nang.

At the same time, a team of Pentagon experts flew to Saigon to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to fight back against an arsenal of new Soviet-made weapons being used by the North Vietnamese.

President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered police and combat troops to "shoot on the spot" anyone engaging in terrorism or public disturbances. Captured enemy documents indicate that Viet Cong terrorist attacks and civil disruptions are planned during the offensive.

The U.S. Command, in another of its periodic reports on the air war, said 500 strikes were flown by Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers over North Vietnam in the past five days.

The Command said that preliminary bomb damage assessment indicates more than 92 North Vietnamese supply trucks and seven tanks were either destroyed or damaged in raids above the demilitarized zone.

DUBIOUS
DIALECTICS

Ask a Marxist - Socialist why he does what he does, and he will tell you that he is abiding by "the infallible science of Dialectics," allegedly discovered by their mental and spiritual leader, Karl Marx.

Unfortunately, not everyone can make very much sense out of "dialectics," but never mind; the comrades still claim to explain everything in the world by their pseudo-science. And if you still don't understand it, that simply means that you are not qualified to be a member of the Intellectual Elite, (themselves) who are destined to rule the world.

The Freedom Leadership Foundation, a splendid group of freedom - loving youth in Washington, D. C., recently passed on an enlightening "explanation" of dialectics, they in turn having received it from Dr. Sanford I. Berman, and we pass it on to you:

Some peasants, the story goes, once came to their priest and asked him what dialectics are.

"It is difficult to explain," the priest said, "but suppose two men, one clean and the other dirty, came here. I offer them a bath. Which one will take it?"

"The dirty one," the peasants replied.

"No," said the priest, "The clean one, because he is accustomed to bathe. The other attaches no value to it."

"Now who would take the bath?" the priest asked.

"The clean one," was the answer.

"No," said the priest, "the dirty one, because he needs it. Now who would take it?"

"The dirty one," replied the peasants.

"No," said the priest, "both of them for the clean one is accustomed to bathe, and the dirty one requires it."

"Now," said the priest, "which one would take the bath?"

Both," replied the peasants.

"No, neither, for the dirty one isn't used to bathing, and the clean one doesn't need it."

"But, Father," the confused peasants interrupted, "each time you say something different, and each time it is the answer which suits your arguments."

"Ah, my children," replied the priest. "Now you know what dialectics are!"

THE NEW/OLD
LOTTERY SCHEME

On Monday, May 8, a new millionaire will join the select group of moneyed Americans. This particular fortune will come not from hard work, ingenuity or a rich benefactor but from the first $1 million drawing in the Massachusetts state lottery. The only effort required of the winner is the purchase of a 50-cent ticket available at retail outlets.

Since 1964, six states -- New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts -- have authorized lotteries to raise public funds. All now hold weekly drawings and charge 50 cents a ticket. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts offer weekly prizes of $50,000 and special million-dollar drawings about once a month. The money derived from the lotteries -- minus prizes, promotion and administrative expenses -- is turned over to the state governments. In Massachusetts, 40 per cent of the gross amount collected -- about $30 million a year -- will be distributed to 351 cities and towns.

The six lotteries now operating and the dozen or so more that are expected to be approved in the next few years have revived an old and popular method of raising public revenues. The settlement of Virginia was largely financed by lotteries in England. All 13 original colonies authorized lotteries as a voluntary form of taxation. The proceeds helped establish Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Dartmouth, Princeton and William and Mary. By 1830, lotteries were collecting an estimated $60 million a year, five times more than the entire federal budget. But swindles, embezzlement and corruption of public officials became so common that, by the end of the 19th century, all states had either outlawed or discontinued their lotteries.

The primary impetus behind legalization is the need for additional sources of state revenue. Some enthusiasts insist that government - operated lotteries will also hurt crime- controlled gambling rackets. But Ernest T. Bird, director of the New York lottery, warns states not to expect too much. "We have no hard evidence that our lottery has hurt the illegal numbers racket. But at least we offer the opportunity to those of its patrons who might wish to divert their money to legal channels for the public good, instead of lining the pockets of the criminal element."

It is about time that a lot of grown-ups, especially political and the heads of our educational systems, from the primary grades to our colleges, took a good look at what they are failing to teach, namely, pride in the United States of America, its constitutional government and individual opportunity under our economic system.

What can be expected of our young people when in political circles they continually hear attacks on U. S. enterprise? Rarely is there a word about the merit of the U. S. free market, capitalistic system that has made our progress possible.

No wonder our young people are confused. Try to find a speech by a congressman, a college president or a school superintendent that forthrightly stands up for fundamental principles that underly our free enterprise system as contrasted with an all-powerful bureaucracy that smothers individual opportunity. They seem afraid to support our heritage.

Don't blame young people for downgrading our constitutional government. They are simply reflecting a lack of understanding which results from failure of leadership in our schools and legislative halls to glorify the individual freedom and opportunity that were given us by our forefathers, instead of serfdom and dependence under a socialized state.

SOFT JUDGES MAKE
HARDENED CRIMINALS

Much too much sympathy is wasted in this country on criminals; and there is far, far too little concern for the victims they murder, rob, rape, beat and burn. Almost every day you read about some vicious human, freed on a ridiculous technicality, or turned loose after serving only a fraction of his sentence. And then the awful sequel — another victim of that same criminal who should not have been free to murder and burn and rob again.

For too many years the trend in this nation has been to permissiveness without punishment — too much ease and too little responsibility.

This country still belongs to those people who worked to build it, not to the shiftless who contribute nothing yet demand they be taken care of. It is high time the men and women who do the work and pay the taxes and carry the responsibility said a loud NO to those who are destroying the decency and dignity and future of America.

One way to cool a teen-ager when he gets too persnickety is point out to him that, according to one legal definition, anyone under 21 years of age is an infant.

Communications scientists estimate the average person can make as many as 700,000 different meaningful gestures through body movements and facial gestures. Think how eloquent he would be if he had that many words in his vocabulary.

Speaking of languages, Francis Bacon, Elizabethan public official and essayist, didn't have much belief in the durability of his native tongue. He translated some of his essays into Latin because he doubted they would survive if printed only in English.

Well, someone at last has gone to the trouble of figuring what a snail's pace really is. A snail, according to the National Geographic Society, roars along at a speed of .000033 miles an hour. On the return trip, if he has got whatever he wanted, he may slow down somewhat. No use in wearing out his motor young. After all, it only generates 1-25-millionth of one horsepower.

Some animals do have extraordinary appetites, don't they? A thirsty camel, for example, can gulp down 25 gallons of water in a few minutes. And a killer whale may swallow as many as 24 whole seals, still struggling, in a single meal.

Direful: If you think the human situation is hopeless today, you might be consoled to know that someone always has considered mankind to be in this plight in every age and period of history. ADULT TRIALS
FOR FELONIES

J. Edgar Hoover, testifying before the House Appropriations Committee, has advocated a policy long ago advanced by The Globe-Democrat. It is this:

A youth who is old enough to commit a serious crime is old enough to be tried as an adult.

"Many times juvenile authorities will not yield a youth for trial as an adult in serious felony cases such as rape," the FBI director testified. "I think they should be tried as felons where they have committed felonies... I would like to see the juvenile age reduced to 15."

Hoover is right.

Most of the vicious street crimes, particularly attacks upon women, are committed by young punks who too often escape proper punishment because they are classed as juveniles.

Years ago The Globe-Democrat, protesting the protection given to young hoodlums, commented that a boy who is old enough to commit rape is old enough to get his name in the paper.

Hoover would make the prosecution fit the crime, rather than grant automatic immunity to offenders because they are below a certain age. The Globe-Democrat agrees 100 per cent with the FBI chief. — Globe-Democrat.

DEFLATION?

The successful bid by R. Clinton Construction Co., Sikeston, to build a new Highway 13 bridge adjacent road work at Osceola is the second contract let this year on the Harry S. Truman Reservoir project which is below the government's estimate.

The estimate on the 1,050 foot steel and concrete bridge and 1.4 mile of new road and by-pass was $2,238,948.20.

Clinton's bid was $1,826,750.80.

The other contract below-estimate was the Highway 83 relocation in Benton County.

Prior to these two bids the project had been caught up in what appeared to be an endless spiral of inflation.

Let's hope Congress will vote an appropriation this year which will speed the project to a timely completion. — Clinton Daily Democrat.

WHAT WE DON'T KNOW

My text today is that what we don't know may be far more important than what we do. This doesn't come out of the Bible but out of my own experience and of my reading of history.

Like just about everybody else I know, I get an enormous thrill out of our moon shots. Right down to the last second I get it out of the blastoff from Cape Kennedy. And I get it even more at the last possible second, on the moon when what looks like a still picture of the lunar module in a black and white landscape takes off in one rush for its return to earth.

What are we to learn from all this? There's one thing that probably occurs to a lot of people. If Apollo XVI can take off on the second, why can't the 5:45 for Babylon?

I can recall some wonderful suggestions that were first made when the moon shots were first scheduled. The moon might consist of valuable ores. Conceivably they might be ferried back to the utter enrichment of us earth folk. Or some other planet might be.

Now this was all a little silly. Who hasn't uttered the thought, in his younger days, that when he escorted a lovely young girl out onto the terrace between dances, that the moon might not indeed be solid gold?

Well, it didn't happen that way. But suppose it had? What would be the dollar on earth today if it were? Or suppose the 40-pound rock our astronauts picked up earlier this week had turned out to be a solid diamond and they had told Mission Control that there were lots of others like it on the landscape?

Now as I figure it, a diamond of this weight would be enough to wreck not only the diamond market itself but a lot of marital engagements.

But that is only if you assume things happen that way. The astronauts have discovered neither gold nor diamonds. But neither did Columbus discover what he was looking for, which was a short way from Spain to the East Indian supplies of spices. What he did find was a vast land barrier that stood implacably between him and what he wanted. He never found a way around it, although others, including Magellan, did.

Columbus didn't discover the Western Hemisphere, as it turned out later. But he managed to convince the courts of Spain and Western Europe that it was actually there. And what he ran upon turned out to be far more valuable than the entire reach of the hemisphere would have turned out to be if it was made of gold or of solid diamonds. For centuries thereafter it absorbed Europe's poor and then went on to become the center of the world's productive capacity, its technology and its wealth.

That is why I stand by the space shots. I don't know what, if anything, they are going to produce. But I do know that what we may be looking for today may not be what we are going to need tomorrow. It may now be out there. How are we ever going to find out if we don't, like Columbus, at least go out and look? — Eric Ridder.

IT SEEMS, according to official declaration in China, the one thing which keeps our countries apart is the war in Southeast Asia. In other words, if we would get out and let North Vietnam overrun South Vietnam, everything would be lovely. And we regret to say a lot of our candidates for office think it would be fine for us to get out and let the Communists go in. We can't understand their feeling that it is all right for North Vietnam and its allies to invade South Vietnam, but wrong for us to help South Vietnam maintain its independence. — Shelbina Democrat.

RED MILITARY TACTICS

The true bankruptcy of communist military power in Indochina is revealed in the recent news, not widely printed, that North Vietnamese soldiers obviously are not the dedicated enthusiasts they once were made out to be. In the wreckage of a heavy Russian tank, knocked out near Saigon by South Vietnamese guns and U.S. air power, observers discovered the North Vietnamese Army driver chained to his post.

Without this complex and heavy Russian military equipment, there would be no communist invasion of South Vietnam. Despite the massive influx of complex missile systems, anti-aircraft and other heavy artillery, trucks by the thousands and other munitions, the North Vietnamese Reds must chain unwilling conscripts to their tanks to force them to fight.

The communists now have committed all their trained regular army divisions to the invasion of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Seasoned military observers doubt that the Reds would have done this without belief that anti-U.S. pressure would prevent effective U.S. military retaliation.

There is no General MacArthur on hand to conceive a brilliant "end run" like the Inchon landing in Korea behind he invading communists armies. The Reds thought they were safe in their new Indochina invasions. They did not even try to hide their big supply dumps and truck convoys in the Hanoi-Haiphong ares of North Vietnam, assuming that the U.S. would not dare bomb them. Now the reluctant invading armies are in desperate trouble and the pro-communist spokesman in the non-communist world are going all out to save them by blackmailing the U.S. military into abandoning the air bombardments and allowing the invasion to succeed. Freedom enthusiasts can point up these facts and strike a tough blow against communism.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Inside White House: new phase 2-1/2 wage, price decontrols seen withering away in a year

WASHINGTON — One of the President Nixon's intimates who has been at his chief's side for decades refers to himself with a soft chuckle as a semiskilled wit. When asked for the full significance of the sudden decontrolling of 5 million firms and 19 million workers, he retorted: "Take it at phase value."

Which I took to mean we're now in Phase Two and a Half edging towards Phase Three. This, if Mr. Nixon is reelected, will come exactly one year from now, says another of Mr. Nixon's advisers, 42-year-old Prof. Arnie Weber whose mind is much like a 21st-centruy computer and who has a wit like a rehoned guillotine.

This university of Chicago professor, son of an electrical worker, has been the one-man operational force behind President's economic stabilization campaign. His prediction, therefore, is as scientific as any forecast can be.

In effect, Arnie Weber said to a small group the other day that the whole Pay Board-Price Commission -Cost of Living complex with expire with the Stabilization Act -- April 30, 1973 -- and be replaced with a "jawboning" incomes policy and a consensus-taking board of some sort. This, I believe, will mean bringing labor and management chiefs together, placing around their usually broad shoulders the cloak of responsibility and telling them to come up with some self-restraint.

This sort of "sit-down" is what the President has been seeking. Back on Dec. 6, 1971, Mr. Nixon called in his Quadriad (four-man braintrust) including George Shultz, the home front's Henry Kissinger, and Cost of Living Council director Don Rumsfeld) and told them to begin studying the easing of Phase Two controls.

They hit it hard. Computers whirled. Specialists reported. Conferences ran endlessly. And last week they decided they had just the formula. They released it on May 1 while the proletariat of the world was marching -- and George Meany was putting the final touches on his anti-Nixon war stratagems to be discussed at his Executive Council session the next two days. Not the least of these involved th nation's ports.

Phase Two and a Half had to come. Meany's price-watching chief, stern, bald-pated Leo Perils, a veteran warrior of the old CIO days, had thousands of his people reporting in from the big cities on everything from herring to peanut butter, hot dogs and matzoh balls. Perlis began talking of uneasy union multitudes restlessly planning to picket across the land wherever prices had gone up. In New York City spot mass picketing had begun.

These were matched off-the-record White House and Executive Office Building parleys. There could be no effective price watch, of course, with the Price Commission having a staff of 595 backed by some 3,000 IRS revenuers, most of whom haven't had a chance to get after the income tax returns. Nor could there by any real wage watch. Not with Judge Boldt's Pay Board having 174 staffers. During "Korea," there were some 50,000 in the stabilization effort and World War II had some 70,000, including one Richard M. Nixon who worked in a unit under the general supervisionof labor lawyer (now an AFL-CIO general counsel) Tom Harris.

So it was decided to cut the smaller businesses out of the red tape. Thus came May Day decontrols. Now the concentration will be on the big unions and big companies. They'll be hit; prices will be ground down; they'll stand tougher against union demands and the theory is that with the big companies selling at lower prices the small fellows will have to go along.

Thus the IRS, which was spending 70 per cent of its time on controlling tiney firms, now will be handling the large ones to make certain the theory becomes practice.

"With more effective controls on the big fellows," said one of Mr. Nixon's inner circle, "we can have a wage and price control system which would be positively by ending the wastage of time on the little firms."

Thus the nation will move through he election and toward Phase Three-- or the free marketplace. Then of course comes labor's long-planned onslaught against General Electric in May 1973 and later the auto union's seige of the big three auto companies in September 1973 . There you'll have the test of jawboning without tough control laws even the giants. Of couse, that being 1973, it will all depend on who will be in the White House for the jawboning.

That's why the labor movement sees the Presidential race as the biggest sweepstakes of all.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — J. Edgar Hoover died, as he would have wished, in harness.

When he took over the FBI 48 years ago, it was loaded with hacks, misfits, drunks and courthouse hangers-on. In a remarkably brief time, he transformed it into a close-knit, effective organization with an "esprit de corps" exceeding that of the Marines.

Under Hoover's reign, agents were fired for drunkenness, for insubordination, even a few for homosexual behavior. But not a single FBI man ever tried to fix a case, defraud the taxpayers or sell out his country.

This amazing, scandal-free record was accomplished by hiring the best men available, training them well, convincing them they were the best, paying them top salaries, and then selling the public on the idea that the FBI is ready to protect the nation from internal emergency.

Above all, Hoover insisted upon discipline. FBI men, who were able to face down armed criminals, couldn't escape the gaze of Hoover. Small disciplinary infractions brought heavy punishment -- transfers to unpleasant posts, suspension without pay, or outright dismissal.

For his giant accomplishments, the nation should pay homage to the old Bulldog whose grim visage, gruff manner and steel-trap mind won't soon be forgotten.

But we would be hypocritical if we didn't also make note of the FBI's excesses under Hoover. Before he took over the Bureau in 1924, it was used openly for political purposes. He largely halted this abuse.

With characteristic discretion, however, he made information from FBI files available to the right people. And, from time to time, the FBI acted as a political police force.

From the FBI's confidential files, we have obtained dozens of dossiers tht have been kept on prominent Americans. It is clear from these documents that FBI agents have spent an extraordinary amount of their time snooping into the private lives of movie stars. sports heroes, political figures and other public personalities.

Hoover also used the FBI to investigate the slightest criticism. For example, the main entry in the secret FBI dossier on the Rev. Walter Fauntroy, the nonvoting representative for the District of Columbia in Congress is an account of a press conference he called to criticize Hoover.

Fauntroy met the press on January 6, 1971, at the site of the new FBI building. Declares a confidential report in Fauntroy's file:

"At 1:10 p.m., Reverend Fauntroy was observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation exiting from a car bearing a 'Fauntroy For Congress' poster on the left front door.

"Reverend Fauntroy approached the construction site and after greeting newsmen began to read from a prepared statement, the opening paragraph of which inferred that the new (building) was being constructed as a shrine for Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI....

"In his statement, Reverend Fauntroy was critical of Attorney General John N. Mitchell and J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, both of whom were described by Reverend Fauntroy as discriminating against minority groups in hiring employees....."

It is questionable whether FBI agents, in these days of rising crime, should be spared to investigate public figures and to monitor the press conferences of congressmen.

Nevertheless, J. Edgar Hoover, now beyond the judgments of those of us who sometimes criticized him, is entitled to the final measure of praise now being paid to him.

But it should not be forgotten, amid all the tributes, that the FBI has been guilty of excesses. These abuses of power should occupy President Nixon in his search for Hoover's successor.

—South Vietnamese planes have been dumping leaflets like autumn leaves on the attacking North Vietnamese troops. The leaflets show President Nixon posing happily with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai. The message claims that the Chinese have already sold out Hanoi, that the terms have already been agreed upon in Peking and, therefore, that the North Vietnamese are risking their lives for nothing.

—The prospects of a joint Soviet-American space flight have improved. Russian and American space scientists, conferring in Moscow, agreed to try to persuade their governments to approve a joint expedition into space.

Nixon Leads Final Tribute To Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today led the nation in last tributes to J. Edgar Hoover, calling him a giant, a legend and an American institution.

Nixon said the FBI, which Hoover spent 48 years building into a world-renowned law enforcement institution, will stand as a living memorial to Hoover.

And he called on Americans to live the spirit of law and order as a continuing tribute to Hoover.

"J. Edgar Ho over loved the law, his God," Nixon said. "He loved the law, his country. And he richly earned peace through all eternity."

Nixon delivered a eulogy to the fallen FBI chief at the National Presbyterian Church, where Hoover had been a deacon.

Hoover was found dead at his home Tuesday morning.

The 1,200-seat church was filled with presidential aides, Cabinet members, members of Congress, diplomats, and public mourners.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower sat near the President. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew attended.

"One of the tragedies of life is that as a rule a man's true greatness is recognized only in death," Nixon said. "J. Edgar Hoover was one of the rare exceptions to that rule. He became a living legend while still a young man and he lived up to that l egends as the decade passed."

Nixon said Hoover personified integrity, honor, principle, courage, discipline, dedication, loyalty and patriotism.

"We can pay him no greater tribute than to live these virtues," he said. "To love the law as he loved it and to give full cooperation to the law enforcement profession which he did so much to advance."

The service was nationally broadcast live on radio and television.

A private burial service was planned today in Congressional Cemetery, only a few blocks from Hoover's boyhood home and not far from the Capitol where his body lay in state for 24 h ours.

In the Capitol Rotunda Wednesday, Hoover was eulogized by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger as a man who "epitomized the American dream of patriotism, dedication to duty and successful attainment."

On Wednesday, thousands filed past the closed, flag-draped coffin resting on the same catafalque used at the Capitol since the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Only 21 men, eight of them presidents, have been similarly honored. Only Hoover was a a civil servant.

Nixon sent a wreath of red, white and blue carnations.

Even as Hoover's body lay in state, an antiwar group, representing the New Left he despised, conducted a protest outside the Capitol, reading the names of Vietnam war dead.

Efforts To Reach Miners Continues

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Dwindling smoke in a mine ventilator shaft indicated the fire that killed at least 24 men may be nearly out, a federal inspector said today as sweating rescue teams struggled to reach 58 miners still missing three days after the blaze began.

Mine officials held out hope they would find survivors because air being forced into the shafts of the Sunshine Mining Co. operation apparently was being consumed below through an air pipe system.

Mine Inspector Edward Adams reported the reduced smoke level but said the carbon monoxide level still was high, however. The smoke and heat were hampering the rescue efforts.

Twenty-four persons were known to have died in the murky, hot mineshafts of the nation's richest and deepest silver producer, where fire Tuesday sent smoke swirling nearly a mile underground.

About dawn of the third day since the missing miners last had been heard from, rescue teams were reported nearing the cavernous, two-story room at the top of the Sunshine's No. 10 hoist shaft.

That vertical shaft, which starts downward from a point 3,100 feet below the surface, provides access to the 4,600-foot level where the missing miners were believed to be, Sunshine officials said.

The rescue units were working from the Silver Summit shaft about 1 1/2 miles northeast of the hoist shaft and had penetrated to within 200 feet of the hoist room when word of the diminishing smoke was received.

The director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, Elburt Osborn, said at the scene that safety infractions found during mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had been corrected as of last January and there was no reason to believe they were connected with the fire.

The New York Times said today in a story from its Washington bureau that rep rts to the Bureau of Mines showed that the mine had repeatedly failed to meet time limits for correcting safety hazards.

The Times said most of the unabated hazards involved failure to provide proper guards for compressors and similar equipment. It said the inspectors judged that none of the infractions cited in November and January was a hazard constituting an "imminent danger." A federal law authorizes federal inspectors to close mines immediately if they determine such dangers exist.

The pipe for the air system that mine officials hoped the trapped men were using runs through the mine shafts at chest level. Miners carry tubelike wrenches that enable them to tap into the line and breath out air.

A mine spokesman said, however, that carbon monoxide the fire generated would be so concentrated that a man could be killed if he took his mouth from the tube.

HHH Delayed Winner In Ohio

By PAUL G.S. LLOYD
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has won a delayed victory in the Ohio presidential primary election, defeating Sen. George McGovern to win the state's 38 at-large delegate votes to the Democratic National Convention.

Humphrey surrendered many of the state's 115 congressional district delegates to McGovern, whose supporters said the South Dakota senator would stand Humphrey "dead even."

With 90 per cent of Ohio's 12,648 polling places tabulated, Humphrey had 38 at-large votes, 10 district votes for sure and was leading for 28 other district votes. McGovern captured 15 district votes, but 11 of them were by a shaky margin that could change when split ballots are counted. He also led for 49 other district votes.

Thirteen other delegates were won by local favorite sons.

The split ticket vote, however, could change the vote totals, possibly dividing the results. Those figures weren't expected until late today or per haps Friday.

In another Tuesday primary, Humphrey defeated Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in Indiana, getting 47 per cent of the ballots cast and 55 of the 76 delegates to the national convention.

The Ohio primary was plagued by problems—polling places locked, voting machines not working, not enough paper ballots and claims of improper instructions to voters.

Wallace Favored In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) George C. Wallace and a school busing referendum, two of the hottest political items in Tennessee, generated the ballot excitement today in this state's first presidential primary.

Polls opened at 7 a.m. and close as late as 8 p.m. CDT in Memphis at the western end of the state.

Wallace was expected to carry the state and most of the nine congressional districts and all of the 49 Tennessee delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Tennessee would be Wallace's first primary victory outside the Deep South and he predicts it will be a springboard to a northern breakthrough in Michigan May 16.

On the crowded Democratic ballot with him were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and seven others. President Nixon and Reps. Paul N. McCloskey and John M. Ashbrook were on the Republican side. Nixon was expected to win by a wide margin.

The busing referendum asks the voters if they favor a constitutional amendment to ban busing for the sake of racial balance in public schools.

Butz Plans Fight-To-Finish Against Food Price Freeze

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said today any federal freeze on food prices will come "over my dead body,'

Butz told a news conference he believes he is winning his battle to convince the American public that prices paid to farmers for food they produce are not too high and that he believes a freeze on food prices can be averted.

Butz met with newsmen ahead of delivering a lecture to a Kansas State University audience in the lecture series named for former Kan sas Gov. Alf M. Landon.

In his address, Butz urged the largely student audience to support closer U.S. ties with Communist nations and to think kindly about politicians.

"I don't think food prices are high," Butz said at the news conference. "That's a matter of controversy, of course.

"The story is getting out. Literally tens of millions of Americans are now aware that a farmer is out there growing cattle or wheat who weren't aware of it before.

"I've tried to get the story across that if we want to keep the food supply flowing from the farms, we've got to get some of the profit out there to the farmer."

Butz said his goal is to continue to push up farm income. He predicted farm income will increase by $1.5 billion to $2 billion this year, an all-time high.

"We're making progress," Butz said, "but it ought to be better."

The Republican secretary, making his second appearance in Kansas this year, said he is pushing for federal legislation to gain bargaining rights for farmers.

He commended the Kansas Legislature for passing what in Kansas has been a controversial farm labor law, which prohibits strikes and secondary boycotts during peak marketing and harvest seasons.

"I think the secondary boycott is a terrible thing," Butz said. "I think it's unAmerican."

Also on the labor front Butz was pessimistic about any legislation emerging from the U.S. Senate Labor Committee to prevent strikes such as the recent dock strike which crippled movement of farm products.

Nixon Names Temporary Successor To Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dampening the potential fireworks of an election-year debate over the FBI, President Nixon has chosen only a temporary replacement for the late J. Edgar Hoover who ran the agency for 48 years.

Nixon appointed L. Patrick Gray III, an assistant attorney general, as acting FBI director Wednesday and said no permanent appointment will be submitted to the Senate until after the Nov. 7 election.

In following this course, Nixon avoids a replay of the stillsimmering furor over his last major appointment, that of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Gray will not have to be confirmed by the Senate as acting director as would any candidate Nixon named for the job on a permanent basis.

Press Secretary Ron ald L Ziegler said Nixon will not nominate a permanent FBI chief until after the election because "he doesn't want it (the choice of a successor) considered in the middle of an election year" and perhaps become the subjects of partisan debate.

Last Feb. 15, Nixon elevated Kleindienst from deputy attorney general to the top Justice Department position and moved Gray up to the No. 2 job.

Neither nomination has been acted upon by the Senate, and Nixon has now withdrawn Gray's appointment so he may hold down both the FBI helm and his present job as head of the department's civil-rights division at the lower salary of the latter, $38,000.

The Kleindienst nomination became embroiled in debate at Senate Judiciary Committee hearings investigating allegations of Justice Department improprieties in the settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telephone Corp.

There is little doubt that no matter who Nixon would choose to succeed Hoover, the committee liberals would have forced the bureau to face the most thorough public investigation in its history.

Gray, 55, a career Navy officer until he retired in 1960 to practice law and politics, has been a Nixon friend for a decade. He served eight years as a special assistant to Nixon as vice president.

A graudate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the balding Gray spent 20 years as an officer in the Navy's submarine service, with a break to earn a law degree at George Washington University. Upon retiring in 1960, he joined the Nixon campaign staff.

He joined the present administration in 1969 as an executive assistant to the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare before being given the Justice Department post.

Q—For how long does a date tree bear fruit?

A—A single tree produces from 100 to 600 pounds of fruit a year, and may bear for 100 years.

Ann Landers

Racehorse Named After Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked to read in the Toronto Star that you disgraced yourself in front of 8,632 people. It seems you were the 2 to 1 favorite and finished third.

By this time you have decided I am nuts, but let me explain. Ann Landers is the name of a three-year-old filly who made her debut recently at Greenwood Raceway. Everyone was excited about her but she was nosed out of second place by Sailing Chance. Victoria Lomac came in first.

The jockey, George Zirnis, claims Ann had a bad position. He says she's sure to be a great racehorse when she gets a few breaks. George purchased Ann after she recovered from a cough and virus.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Claire Robertson, named the filly Ann Landers because she loves your column. I hope you're not insulted. You have a great many fans in Canada, and we wouldn't want to be disrespectful. Sincerely yours ---Winner's Circle.

Dear Winner: Insulted? Not on your maple-leaf, Honey. I'm honored. Incidentally, you'll be glad to know I've stopped coughing and they say I have a bright future.

Dear Ann Landers: May I pass on some information that might save a life?

I was having dinner at a restaurant and I swallowed a large slice of ham. I was unable to breathe and couldn't say a word. I began to panic, scared out of my wits. My dinner companion shouted, "Stand up real tall! Reach for the ceiling! Try to take a deep breath, then bend over and touch the floor." Sure enough, the chunk of ham fell out -- and so did my dentures.

Embarrassed? Not a bit. I was glad to be alive. --- Mrs. T. A. G. of L. A.

Dear Mrs. T. A. G. : Hundreds of people die every year because they don't know what to do when a large piece of meat becomes lodged in the throat. My Harvard Medical School consultants say the best thing to do is turn the victim upside down and pound on his back. If the meat doesn't become dislodged promptly and the person begins to turn blue, a tracheotomy should be performed at once.

Dear Ann Landers: Our family has been invited to a large formal wedding. The bride and groom have been openly living together for over a year.

I have expressed my objections to this way of life many times and now I feel I would be condoning it if I attended the wedding. What should I say in my note declining the invitation? Should I send a wedding gift? The parents of both the bride and groom are fine people and long-time friends. - California Conflict.

Dear Con: I do not sanction pre-marital shacking up and have said so in front and from the speaker's platform. But I HAVE attended the weddings of couples who lived together because their parents were friends of mine. The lifestyle of the bride and groom is none of my business. I hope you will reconsider and not bite off your nose to spite your face.

Dear Ann Landers: I had to laugh when I read the beef from the Wife to the Other Woman who wrote, "I spend household money on the obstetrician while you vacation in Acapulco..." The reason I laughed is because I am the Other Woman who just returned from Acapulco where I ALSO spent money on an obstetrician. The abortion cost ME $500 plus plane fare from Des Moines. I wish I had never met the rat. ---Too Late Smart.

You feel awkward, self-conscious --- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Nitroglycerin Pills Must Be Fresh

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article on angina and nitroglycerin tablets. I have had angina about 2½ years, but in the last year have not had an angina attack. When I lift or work too fast I get short of breath, but do not have the pains I used to. After reading your article I discarded my nitroglycerin tablets. Should I have kept them?

Dear Reader — No. You might as well have thrown them away because if they really were a year old they were no good anyway. Nitroglycerin tablets do not last a long time and should be kept fresh if they are going to be used at all. Anyone who has had any anginal attacks for six months or a year shouldn't be taking nitroglycerin tablets even if they start having chest pains suddenly. The thing to do in that instance is to call your doctor. The reason a lot more people don't have an adverse reaction to nitroglycerin tablets used for chest pain that is really a severe heart attack, not angina, is because they have kept the tablets so long that they aren't any good.

I presume you are referring to my comment that an individual should not take nitroglycerin tablets at the onset of a heart attack. They are quite all right for treatment of recurring angina and have been used successfully that way for years, but they can be harmful to a person who has chest pain.

Dear Dr. Lamb—We know that the thyroid gland produces hormones necessary for life. Would a woman without this hormone die without medicine to restore her thyroid? Does thyroid deficiency affect body function and mental ability? Is it inherited later in life by children born to a woman with thyroid deficiency.

Dear Reader — Yes, the thyroid hormone is essential to life. The fact that one is hypothyroid or has a low thyroid function, however, doesn't mean that no hormone is produced. In long-standing cases of markedly decreased thyroid function some patients can even develop coma. And such severe thyroid depression can lead to "myxedema madness," which means loss of mental capacity due to extremely low thyroid function. Less severe cases are not fatal.

There is no evidence that low thyroid function is inherited. Even if a woman is diagnosed as having low thyroid function after her children are born it is doubtful that she would have had seriously low thyroid function during a successful pregnancy. Women with relatively low thyroid function have difficulty getting pregnant and difficulty in maintaining their pregnancy. If a normal child is born it is a reasonably good indication the mother has normal function of the thyroid.

What's the Law

Stripper Can't Collect For Kiss

By JACK STRAUSS, LL. B.

Roger suffered from a conditioned reflex. He drooled at the mere sight of the small building in which he lived. For next door in the adjacent apartment lived Betty, who had more curves than a French road map. And, while their paths crossed on a number of sizzling occasions, they were not socially involved.

Then one night a series of unexpected events occurred. Betty invited several female neighbors into her apartment for some beer and music and, seeing Roger coming up the stairway, she invited him in. He was still there many hours and beers later when, on the dare of her female guests, Betty did the most fantastic strip tease Roger had ever seen.

The result? The next time Roger met Betty in the hallway, he just couldn't resist grabbing and kissing her. Betty, in turn, had Roger arrested on charges of assault and battery.

"I can't be blamed for what I did," protested Roger in court. "After she did that strip tease in front of me, I thought Betty liked me. I thought I was one of her chosen people."

"I wouldn't choose him for dog catcher," was Betty's answer. "Just because he happened to be present when I accepted a dare was no invitation for him to grab and kiss me."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Roger of assault and battery upon his curvy neighbor?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that for a woman to perform a strip-tease dance before a lone man might imply consent to his later making advances towards her. If he misconstrued the implication, concluded the judge, it wasn't necessarily his fault. (Based upon a 1962 Alabama Court of Appeals Decision)

MRC Plans Hearings, Inspections

VICKSBURG, MISS. — A 950-mile long series of inspections and public hearings along the Mississippi River will be conducted by the Mississippi River Commission (MRC) from May 13-19.

Major General Charles C. Noble, president of the MRC, states that members will hear progress reports from District Engineers in Memphis, Vicksburg, and New Orleans on work being accomplished under the Mississippi River and Tributaries Project. The MRC members will also review the fiscal 1973 budget report of $95 million now being considered by the Congress.

"One of our major activities," Maj. Gen. Noble points out, "will be the five public hearings we have planned. This is where we can hear directly from the people on what they desire in water resource development, and we are hoping for a good turnout at all our hearings."

Scheduled hearings by the MRC will be aboard the motor vessel Mississippi at 4:30 p. m., May 13, Cairo, Ill.; 8:30 a. m., May 15, City Front, Memphis; 8:30 a. m., May 16, City Front Greenville, Miss.; 4:30 p. m., May 17, Foot of Silver Street, Natchez, Miss.; and 9:00 a. m. May 19, foot of Canal Street, New Orleans.

The Chief of Engineers, Lieutenant General F. J. Clarke, will accompany the MRC from Cairo to Vicksburg and observe the activities of the Commission, which is the only agency of its type in the Corps.

Members of the MRC, in addition to Maj. Gen. Noble, are Mr. Harold T. Council, Greenville, Miss.; Dr. Frederic H. Kellogg, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. Roy T. Sessums, Metairie, La.; Rear Adm. Don H. Jones, Washington D. C.; Maj. Gen. Willard Roper, Washington, D. C.; and Maj. Gen. Harold R. Parfitt, Dallas, Texas.

Staff members from the MRC office who will participate in the MRC inspection trip include E. P. Blankenship, Executive Assistant; Marshall Bush, Chief, Program Development; A. J. Davis, Chief, Engineering; J. I. Boswell, Chief, Construction-Operations; John T. Pegg, Chief, Planning; and Raymond H. Haas, Chief, Channel Improvement.

Disappearing Signs Help Isolate Village

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — This windswept village on the Bolinas Lagoon would like the rest of the world to think it has disappeared. Road signs telling motorists where Bolinas is hiding and how to get there have been removed.

Dozens of signs have been chopped down during the night. County officials erect new ones and these too are eliminated.

"Eliminated is a kind word," fretted road superintendent Henry W. Miller. "What they do is take a chain saw and hack them off." He complained at least 20 signs costing $25-$50 each have disappeared in the last half-year.

"I guess they don't want anybody to know where it is," Miller said.

"The people in this town want to feel it's a town, not a tourist trap," declared Dan Deevy Jr., manager of the only grocery store. "Taking down the signs is one solution. And it works."

On weekends and summer days, the main street of Bolinas is cramped with camera-clicking tourists riding bumper-tobumper amid weatherbeaten pastel cottages. Homemade signs point out "Smiley's," the saloon; "Scowley's," a restaurant; and "Snarley's," a delicatessan open Sundays only.

Bolinas is nestled in heavily wooded coastal foothills about 20 miles north of San Francisco's Golden Gate and just south of the bay, where Sir Francis Drake crashed his ship Golden Hind in 1579 after he missed the Golden Gate in heavy fog.

Residents include retired folks and young families who like the quiet and the nearby sea.

In short, Bolinas is isolated, but isolated in picturesque territory just perfect for a Sunday drive.

"We close on Sundays because of the tourists," says Deevy. "They dirty the place up and they only buy potato chips and little things."

Nixon Tops Goal For Troop Cuts

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop withdrawals have exceeded President Nixon's May 1 target by 2,700 men, the U.S. Command announced Monday. But U.S. Naval strength off Vietnam continued to grow.

The command's weekly summary put U.S. military strength in Vietnam at 68,100 men as of last Thursday—a cut of 8,400— and spokesmen said the level as of midnight April 30 was 66,300. President Nixon's May 1 goal was 69,000.

Nixon has set 49,000 as his July 1 troop strength target. At the peak three years ago there were 543,000 American troops in Vietnam.

Three thousand U.S. sailors were added to the reported total aboard some 55 warships in the Gulf of Tonkin and South China Sea off Vietnam.

This total has risen steadily since North Vietnam began its offensive and last week reached 41,000 men. It includes at least 1,500 U.S. Marines standing by for any emergency in getting out American personnel, according to sources in Washington.

It is sponsored by the men's and women's physical education departments at the college. Coordinators are LaVerne Lauxman and Miss Marjorie Paben.

Clinic topics will be teaching techniques, progressions, and spotting techniques.

"Participants may bring clothes in which to participate or they may just watch," said Lauxman.

Reservations should be made with Lauxman as soon as possible. His office is in Houck Field House at Southeast Missouri State.

On May 20 the two departments will again combine forces to offer a golf clinic for teachers, students, and other interested persons.

Bar Group Favors Prepaid Legal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delegates to an American Bar Association conference agree that some type of prepaid group plan is needed to give middleincome Americans greater access to lawyers.

But delegates to the Conference on Prepaid Legal Services concluded a two-day meeting Friday with little agreement on how such a plan should work.

"This thing is too new," one delegate said. "We should go ahead with every type of plan because we don't know which one is best."

Nearly 400 representatives of the legal profession, insurance industry, organized labor, law schools, consumer groups and government participated in the conference designed to analyze the development of prepaid legal service plans—a concept similar to prepaid group medical and health services.

The program is designed to make legal assistance more readily available to persons of low and middle income, those earning between $6,000 and $20,000 a year who make up, the conference was told, between 60 to 70 per cent of the population.

"On one end of the spectrum are the affluent," said Thomas A. Foster of Minnespolis, Minn. "They, of course, can afford the cost of legal action. The poor, on the other hand, have legal aid provided through such organizations as the Office of Economic Opportunity and public defender services."

"Most people can't afford to hire a lawyer to bring a consumer complaint," said William N. Walker, deputy director of the White House Office of Consumer Affairs.

Panel sessions failed to clear up much of the confusion over the various plans already in existence in all but seven states.

"It is understandable why a group legal services provision would provoke so much controversy among the members of the organized bar," said John G. Bonami of New York city. "We are dealing with an activity which many lawyers feel threatens the traditional relationship between attorney and client and might involve the solicitation of clients in a manner hitherto frowned upor by the legal profession."

In New Jersey, for example, the Blue Cross has offered to develop and administer a plan. But this drew fire from several delegates who referred to the group medical service as one example the legal service would do well not to imitate.

Boston Costs Top New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Labor Department figures show Boston has overtaken New York as the third most expensive city for medium-budget American families.

Anchorage retains a firm grip on first place, and Honolulu holds second despite some relative slippage. Small Southern cities remain the cheapest urban places to live.

These are among the findings of the Bureau of Labor Statistics' urban family budgets, updated Wednesday for the first time in a year and a half.

During that time the national average cost of maintaining an intermediate standard of living for a family of four rose 2.9 per cent to $10,971 a year.

The cost of a more austere standard rose 3.5 per cent to $7,214, and the cost of a higher standard, providing more comfort and luxuries, rose 2.5 per cent to $15,905.

Consumer prices rose 6.3 per cent during the same period, but lower income taxes helped keep total budget costs down.

The lower budget provides for rental housing without air conditioning and meals that are nutritious but feature mostly low-cost meat and meat subsitutes.

The higher budget provides for a higher rate of home ownership, a new car every four years for most families and more and better food, clothing, furniture and household appliances.

The figures are updated to last fall. Previous figures were for the spring, 1970.

During the time the costs of an intermediate budget in Anchorage remained at a solid 136 per cent of the national average. Honolulu slipped from 120 to 119. Fourth-place Boston shot up from 113 to 117, overtaking third-place New York, where relative costs went up more slowly from 114 to 115.

Places where costs now match the national average are Baltimore, Los Angeles, Kansas City, St. Louis and Green Bay, Wis.

Lowest urban costs were recorded in Southern towns of from 2,500 to 50,000 population. They averaged only 84 per cent of the national norm. Other low-costs cities included Austin, Tex., 86 per cent; Orlando, Fla.; 88; and Atlanta, 89.

The department gives no figures for farm areas.

THE 34 CORNER FISHING HOLE is flooded due to the high Mississippi river water. Rains throughout the Mississippi Valley are predicted to raise the river stages slightly. The State park at 34 corner has been under water two weeks. The park is on Highway 80 across a levee eight miles east of East Prairie.

Need Cited For Rural Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas said Tuesday there is need for a national commitment to develop the rural areas of the country.

Rockefeller, executive vice president of the Coalition for Rural America, told a House Small Business subcommittee that "We believe that this national commitment should embody at a minimum a national policy statement and appropriate federal programs to implement that policy over the next decades."

He suggested legislation authorizing local investment companies as counterparts to local development companies as a new source of working capital for rural small business development and equity ownership.

He said such local investment companies should be backed by federal guarantees and that they should be profit-making enterprises.

The subcommittee is studying the problems of small towns and rural areas and their impact on small business. It expects to come up with recommendations as to how the federal government can best meet the needs of Small Town America.

The Coalition for Rural America was founded last September to advance the broad interests of rural America and to promote balanced national growth in the United States. Eleven former state governors serve on its board of directors.

Rockefeller said that there is some evidence that rural-tometropolitan migration is waning. But he said such figures do not tell why.

Boys Freed Of Mowing Without Permit Charges

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A judge has dismissed charges against three Miami youths accused of mowing lawns without a permit. He also ordered all records of their arrests destroyed.

Municipal Judge George Pallotto accepted a defense request Monday to dismiss the charges against Pershing "Kip" Qilliams Jr., Rick Sigler and Danny Walters, all 17.

They were arrested April 12 while going door to door and offering to mow lawns to pick up some pocket money. They told an officer they had not bought city identification permits, which cost about $2.50 each, and were taken to jail. Williams' car was impounded. They were released on $55 bond each.

Illegitimacy Up 18 Per Cent In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — With many young Swedes shunning marriage, nearly a fifth of Sweden's babies are arriving out of wedlock.

A "unique" decline in Swedish marriages is pinpointed by Erland Hofsten, head of the state statistical bureau. Nothing like it is happening elsewhere in Europe, he says.

From a high point of 61,101 marriages in 1966, the number tumbled to 39,000 last year—a 35 per cent nosedive within five years and the lowest figures in more than a century.

Hofsten says the decrease in weddings is most pronounced and significant at the ages when marriage normally is most usual—23-24 for women and 25-26 for men.

Illegitimacy rose from 10 per cent of all births in 1960 to 18 per cent in 1970, a record figure.

Why the decline in marriages? For lack of a clear-cut answer a lot of theories are put about.

In general, more and more couples are deciding simply to live together.

"Our love is so strong there's no need for a ring or a marriage certificate," says one couple.

Hofsten opined that the change in social customs "could more easily win ground in Sweden because free associations and illegitimate children have always been accepted in a manner which isn't usual in other countries.

Ingrid Sundberg, a moderate party member of parliament active in family affairs, found the development disturbing. "Children need security," she observed.

Hofsten saw the fact that women's economic liberation has advanced farther in Sweden than many other countries as an element in the pattern.

A gradual weakening in Christian belief and religious devotion is being cited among church leaders.

A state commission has been work ing almost three years on proposals to change family laws—possibly by making marriage simply a form of registration and by easing divorce.

Now every third marriage breaks up within 10 years. Divorces rose from 8,958 in 1960 to 12,238 in 1969. The most common grounds are adultery, alcoholism, a criminal conviction and mental disease.

One suggestion under study: if the marriage partners agree an immediate divorce should be possible. If the couple has children, or if one partner objects, there would be a time for reflection—perhaps up to six months.

Under this thinking the guilty-party concept would end.

Boardman Family May Hold Phone Record

A. Judson Boardman Jr., whose family has had telephone service at 302 Ruth St. since 1909, may hold the Sikeston record for continuous phone service at the same address, according to Mark Rudloff, Southwestern Bell manager.

The 63- year service is the longest reported here, Rudloff said. At the same time, he said, there is a limit to the time a person or family could have had phone service at any address in Missouri.

The first telephone exchange in Missouri was placed in service at St. Louis in April, 1878, Rudloff said.

Prompting the response from Boardman was an item in Telephone Talk, a monthly publication Southwestern Bell encloses with its bills. The item invited readers to top the record of a customer who reported having continuous service at the same address 53 years.

About 600 others from the company's five- state territory rose to the challenge. Most of them reported longer records than the one published.

Mandatory Work Subbed For Assistance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee rejected President Nixon's new assistance plan for welfare families Friday and voted 10 to 4 to substitute for it a program putting the stress on mandatory work programs for welfare recipients.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said the Workfare proposal adopted by the committee would establish the principle that welfare recipients qualified to do so must work or lose their entire family benefits.

However, the new plan would affect less than half the 3 million adults now on Aid to Families with Dependent Children which is by far the biggest of the welfare programs.

About 1.8 million of these adults, nearly all mothers, would not be required to work because they have children under 6 years of age.

The other 1.2 million, with children of school age, would have to register with a government employment corporation and work for $1.20 an hour, three-fourths of the present minimum wage, in make-work jobs provided by that agency.

However, they would be given incentives to try to find alternative jobs in private industry because, if they did this, they would get supplementary government payments which would increase their incomes considerably.

The 1.8 million adults not required to work would remain under the present AFDC program with its widely varying state benefit levels.

The key feature of the Nixon plan, junked by the committee, is a $2,400 guaranteed annual income for a family of four.

The committee's substitute is estimated to cost $3 billion more than the Nixon plan which itself is figured to be $5.5 billion more costly than present law.

Session Ends With Major Bills Unpassed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — In counting up its profits and losses for the session which ended for all practical purposes at midnight Sunday, the Missouri Legislature could look back on a number of major items it did not pass.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who outlined his legislative program at the opening session Jan. 5, claimed 12 of 18 administration measures safely cleared.

Among those he didn't get was a $260 million capitol improvements bond issue to catch up on building needs at college campuses, state hospitals and other institutions. Again, the budget passed this year provided only for critically needed repairs on existing structures.

In the field of welfare, another try at reinstating the socalled ADC-U Program failed. It would have again extended aid to dependent children benefits to families with unemployed fathers living in the home.

That program, according to Hearnes and Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter, worked well in a three-year trial which ended by statute last Dec. 31.

Nor were administration forces able to secure passage of a bill specifically designed to combat welfare fraud—providing penalties for persons who knowlingly misrepresent facts in applying for state aid.

In insurance legislation, the governor's batting average was generally good, but the most controversial proposal in this field—bringing Blue Cross and Blue Shield heath plans under regulation by the division of insurance and assessing a 2 per cent premium tax—died in conference committee.

In education, the ban Hearnes sought against arbitrary closing of schools as a result of levy fights, got lost among other legislation and never emerged. It would have required school boards to get the approval of the state board of education before closing schools.

At the upper end of the education scale, the same fate befell a state reorganization commission recommendation to beef up the powers of the commission on higher education, giving it more authority to coordinate programs and policies of the state's universities and colleges.

That plan was killed in a Senate committee, revived in a much weakened version, but finally forgotten.

And, in an election year, Hearnes' appeal for effective curbs on campaign spending never really got off the ground. Hearnes said current election laws regulating these practices are a fraud.

Other measures also went by the boards, including one stopped by the clock in the House as the session expired. It would have reduced the statutory residency requirement from one year to 90 days, a limit considered reasonable in light of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing a oneyear residency requirement in Tennessee.

Other casualties included bills to legalize betting, require open meetings of all public bodies—the "sunshine bill" watered down until it became meaningless—and measures to provide for "no-fault" insurance and "no-fault" divorce.

Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, DHillsboro, got shot down on two controversial proposals.

One was a constitutional amendment to return to a oneterm limit for Missouri Governors. The other was a resolution asking Congress to call a national constitutional convention to end busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Also going by the boards was another measure to assure equal rights for women.

Many of the measures which failed are likely to be brushed off and reintroduced next January when the next General Assembly convenes.

Washington Report by Senator Symington

PROGRAMS FOR NATIONAL FORESTS IN MISSOURI URGED NEW MO. HOSPITAL UNIT LARGEST OF KIND IN NATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Programs that could have great impact on future development of national forests in Missouri received my support during recent hearings held by a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee.

The Missouri Conservation Department and the U.S. Forest Service have recommended a proposal, the first of its kind in the nation, that would serve as a model for improved wildlife and forest management practices.

Under this proposal, a Federal- State Wildlife Habitat Management Program would be initiated at the Clark and Mark Twain National Forests to improve both wildlife and timber resources in central and southern Missouri.

Among those projects which would be included in this Federal- State effort: construction of 100 small ponds to be used as wildlife waterholes, programs to protect endangered wildlife species, management of some 22,000 acres of grassland habitat, and programs to provide for additional animal forage as well as improved fishing on eight lakes.

This proposal, which includes a request for $418,000 in appropriations, would be the first such comprehsneive program to combine Federal and State efforts in wildlife management.

Another program essential to the continued development of water and other recreational resources in the Clark National Forest is the complete construction of Council Bluff Lake. This would afford needed recreational facilities to a large area of Missouri, including the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Council Bluff Lake is both the largest and the first of Forest Service headwater lakes and will eventually have a surface area of 440 acres, providing water sports and camping, with access to hiking and saddle trails in the surrounding area.

The $1,843,000 appropriations request being considered by the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee for completion of Council Bluff Lake would be a great boost towards development of Missouri's water and other recreation resources.

It was my privilege to participate in the recent dedication of the cardiovascular care unit at St. John's Hospital in Springfield. The unit is the largest hospital unit in the nation dedicated entirely to the care of patients suffering from cardiovascular diseases, and will extend badly needed services beyond the city limits of Springfield throughout the Ozarks.

In fact, based on the coordination developed during the establishment of the St. John's unit, during the coming months the emergency heart care program is expected to be extended so that no heart attack victim in the state will be more than one hour from emergency treatment.

As the major cause of death in the country, heart disease and related ailments account for 54% of deaths annually.

The efforts of the many Missourians who contributed to the establishment of the unit in Springfield make Missouri a leader in providing the necessary services for prevention and treatment of heart diseases.

Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," produced in 1937, was the first feature-length cartoon in color.

Three Rivers To Graduate On May 12

POPLAR BLUFF -- Dr. Arthur L. Mallory, state commissioner of education, will give the commencement address at the Three Rivers Community College graduation ceremonies next month.

The program will be at 8 p.m. May 12 in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

This will be the third year the commencement program has been held in the First Baptist Church, the only building with seating capacity to accommodate graduates and their families, students, faculty and administrative personnel of the college and still provide room for the interested public.

The graudating class this year will have about 130 members.

Anheuser-Busch Reports Record Sales, Earnings

ST. LOUIS (AP) — AnheuserBusch, Inc., reported record sales and earnings for the first quarter of 1972 with sales showing a 10 per cent increase over the same period of 1971.

August A. Busch Jr., chairman, said net sales for the first three months were $224 million compared with $203 million last year.

Earnings for the first quarter were $17.4 million, compared with $15.5 million last year, Busch said.

Beer sales in the first quarter topped 6 million barrels, an 11 per cent increase over the 5.5 million barrels of Budweiser, Michelob, Busch and Budweiser Malt Liquor sold in the fist wuarter of 1971.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Be Careful Removing Glue from Leather

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I had a problem similar to Frances's except that I spilled some glue on a pair of shoes instead of on a leather-topped table as she did. With a steady hand and single-edged razor blade she should be able to carefully remove it without harm to her table top. When the glue is removed, saddle soap might be used.—BRUCE

DEAR POLLY—Frances might use a small amount of nail polish remover to get the glue off her leather-topped table. Be careful not to drop it anyplace but on the glue spot.—JEANETTE

DEAR READERS—Leather-topped tables may have different finishes and those with a very shiny, mirrorlike gloss may be slightly dulled from any spot-removal treatment. If the color should lighten, paste wax shoe polish, the color of the leather, might be used on the spot to restore at least some of the gloss and color. A spot of white vinegar on the glue is another possibility for softening glue and then the razor blade treatment would be easier. —POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—How can I get mildew out of a new Morocco leather hassock (saddle soap did not work) and a used canvas umbrella?—HELEN

DEAR POLLY—I have been trying for weeks to get up enough courage to write my Pet Peeve. It is with those people who do not make their children pick up toys after they have finished playing with them, particularly when they are in someone else's home. It never fails that there is always something left to be picked up, but does the whole toy box have to be cleaned out? I try to teach my son to pick up toys he has played with, for how else do they learn? But, of course, some never do.—COVERED WITH TOYS AND DISGUSTED

DEAR POLLY—When making baking powder biscuits, roll out the dough to make a rectangle. Use the inside divider from an ice-cube tray and press down on the dough to cut out biscuits which are even and ready for baking in a jiffy.—LYNNE

1,000 Mark Continues To Elude Dow Average

NEW YORK (AP) — In the past six years man has assaulted height records of various sorts. He has topped 18 feet in the pole vault, erected 110story buildings, sent instruments toward the stars and stepped on the moon.

But in that same time the old Dow Jones Industrial Average is stuck right where it was in 1966. It has bounced about during this time, shaking loose a few fortunes, but its rebound is like that of a worn tennis ball.

It reached 995 in 1966 and then tumbled to 744. It crawled up to 985 in 1968 and then fell to 631. It rebounded to 950 in 1971 but plunged again to 798 in the same year.

Once more it is back close to 970 but there again the "assault" seems to have stalled. Early in the week it read 957 and some of the stock market letter writers were showing the strain.

As explained by one, James Dines, the market has once again reached that point where analysts are just getting too bullish. So watch out.

"... and with the DJIA now in the area just under the magic level of 1,000 which has spawned so many bear markets, a market correction cannot be ruled out."

When the DJIA nears 1,000 there is a distinct, observable shift from confidence to caution and this time for a number of reasons.

Those hefty corporate profits on which many investors base their hopes are now somewhat suspect. C. Jackson Grayson, Price Commission chairman, observes that some are illegally high and will result in rebates.

That war in Vietnam that so many analysts wanted to write off as a significant factor has now reached a pitch that cannot be ignored by Wall Street because of the threat of significant policy changes.

And those mutual fund redemptions. For quite a while most analysts ignored the repeated news that fund shareholders were cashing in their chips. Temporary, they said.

Now they are not so certain. The redemptions continue, suggesting that the great growth days of the mutual fund industry may have ended. That means a loss to the market of a steady flow of investment dollars to support prices.

All these factors can take on a different meaning over coming days and weeks. Not only will the events change but, in a mystifying way, the interpretation of events might change also.

The caribou is the only deer in which both sexes have antlers.

Senate Okays Pay Patient Treatment At Ellis-Fischel

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate revived and passed Wednesday a bill allowing pay patients to be treated at Ellis-Fischel Cancer Hospital in Columbia.

The vote sending it to the governor was 22-9.

Indigents and patients who can pay part of their treatment costs would still have first priority for space at the hospital but if beds were available, patients who can pay their own way would be admitted.

Passed and sent back to the House was a bill that would ban the use of studded tires on Missouri highways between April 1 and Nov. 1 — a measure designed to save wear and tear on highway surfaces.

Also sent back to the House with Senate changes was a bill that would let pickup trucks carrying campers be driven at 70 miles an hour instead of 60. It raises the weight limit on such trucks from 9,000 to 12,000 pounds.

The stage was set for full fledged debate later today on proposals to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

Propose Tax Break For Private Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr. has proposed a constitutional amendment permitting federal income tax credits for private school tuition to break the barrier that so far has blocked government aid to nonpublic schools.

Taft's proposal resembles one which has drawn favorable comment from the White House, but a spokesman for the Ohio Republican said there have been no discussions with the White House on the issue.

In addition to the constitutional amendment, Taft said, he plans to introduce legislation to grant the credits on part of the tuition paid by parents privately educating their children.

Taft's statement gave no estimate of the cost of his proposals.

Attempts by states to aid parochial and private education have repeatedly been struck down by the courts because they violate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Hearnes Still Loyal To Muskie

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has reiterated today his support of Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a question and answer period at the spring seminar of the Missouri Radio-TV News Association, Hearnes said Muskie's defeats in several early primaries had not changed the governor's opinion of him as the best man for the job.

Several primaries and the party's national convention are still to come, the governor pointed out.

Hearnes and Missouri Sens. Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton all gave early endorsements to Muskie.

In an address, the governor said there is an urgent need for consolidation of state government. Too often the practice has been to set up commissions and committees which are designed to solve problems but only seem to compound them, he said.

Virtually all Missouri politicians talk about reorganization of state government, he said, but few have done anything about it.

Earlier, Missouri Liquor Control Supervisor Courtney Goodman Jr. told the gathering he believes reports of a natural gas shortage are a myth perpetrated by gas companies in an effort to win support for rate increases.

Official Says '73 Car Prices Won't Rise Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — New automobiles in 1973 will not cost much more than 1972 models, according to a Price Commission official.

Louis Neeb, executive secretary of the commission, said public demand for new cars has padded the profit margins of auto makers to near or beyond levels allowed by price guidelines.

"Thus, we anticipate that the increased demand, and the resulting impact on the profit margins of the firms, will help to hold auto prices down to very low levels," he said, Tuesday.

Neeb was commenting on the commission's denial Monday of $2 million in price increases requested by Ford Motor Co.

The commission also ordered F. W. Woolworth Co. to roll back the prices for its food operations to levels below those of last fall's freeze.

Kelly Wins Title

ORAN -- Sophomore pitching sensation Jeff Jackson, fashioned a two hitter Wednesday afternoon to give the Kelly Hawks the sub- district baseball title over the Advance Hornets, 3-1.

The talented 15- year old eliminated the defending champions Friday with a no-hit performance and had another gem going until the sixth when coach Carroll Cookson's Hornets bunched two hits to score their only run.

Kelly goes against the Cape Girardeau sub- district winner next week at Chaffee. Notre Dame and Jackson are pitted in the final today at Cape Girardeau's Capaha park.

The game featured a pitching duel between Jackson and Darrel Croy of the Hornets. Croy allowed seven hits with errors prominent in Hawk scoring.

Jackson gave up only two hits both in the sixth when Advance scored its lone run. Jackson has hurled four two hitters and one no-hitter. The flashy righthander has a 6-0 record.

"Jackson wasn't very sharp and Kenny Urhahn made good defensive plays as shortstop," commented coach Jim Thornsberry. "Jackson only had seven strikeouts. He usually has 12 or so and he walked four.

"Kenny Urhahn had six chances at short and they were on bloopers in the outfield."

Kelly scored its first run in the first. Urhahn singled and Jeff Jackson smacked a single to center. Coach Thornsberry put the hit and run sign on and the Hornet centerfield bobbled the ball, allowing Urhahn to come in home from first on the error.

The Hawks added their second and third runs in the third. Catcher Glen Green reached first on an error. Terry Deason followed with a two bagger to drive in Green with the second run. Chris Chrismon, Hawk rightfielder, singled to drive in Deason with the Hawks' final run.

Jackson was breezing along with no- hitter until the sixth when Keith Sherman tripled to left center and Dennis Dunivan singled him home for the Hornets only run of the game.

VERDIA KUYKENDALL levels off on a pitch from Gideon's Dewayne Nowlin Wednesday afternoon and powers it over the left field fence for a 375- foot three- run homer. He led the Hayti Indians to a 6-0 shutout of the Bulldogs and into the state high school baseball tournament district playoffs at Lilbourn next week.

Kuykendall Provides Power

HAYTI -- Verdia Kuykendall slammed a three-run homer in the first inning for the Hayti Indians.

That's all the Tribe's big righthanded hurler, Randy Gardner, needed Wednesday afternoon to put the HHS diamond crew into next week's district playoffs of the state high school baseball tournament, 6-0.

The hard throwing, fast ball specialist scattered six hits of the power hitting Gideon Bulldogs and chalked up the shutout to give the Tribe the sub-distracit championship.

Hayti meets the winner of today's Twin Rivers sub-district tournament game matching Puxico and Bernie.

The Indians infield defense was strong enough to dethrone the defending champion Bulldogs.

"We played a good defensive game we thought," commented coach Jerry Cecil. "We had a lot of fielding chances to get the double plays to stop big innings and we got the hits when we needed them."

Dewayne Nowlin was the losing pitcher.

Randy Gardner gave up seven hits. He allowed a single hit in each of the first five innings but the defense kept him out of trouble.

The Indians scored their second run in the fourth on three hits with Freddy Booth getting the key blow, a double to drive in one run.

In the fifth inning Jerome Maxie, Hayti shortstop, singled and the next two batters walked. Booth once again singled to drive in two runs, runnihg his total to three.

Maxie, Grant, and Booth had two hits apiece for the Indians. Murphy, Huckabee, and Berry had two apeice for the losing Bulldogs.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs optioned rookie lefthanded relief pitcher Larry Gura to the Wichita farm club Wednesday on 24-hour recall.

Gura had pitched 2 1-3 innings in two games for the Cubs this spring.

Walker Blanks Bulldogs

BROSELEY — The Bernie Mules and the Puxico Indians will battle each other Thursday afternoon to decide the winner of the sub-district baseball tournament. Each won Wednesday afternoon.

Bernie romped over the Richland Rebels, 12-3, and Puxico beat Twin Rivers, 7-1.

Dell Walker was all the show in the Bernie win. The hard throwing lefthander fired a two hitter and hit two home runs. Walker, a junior, sports a perfect 5-0 record and has a earned run average of .000 for 28 innings. The six foot, 180 pound youngster has a blazing fastball but his best pitch, according to Coach Jack McGowan, is a screwball which comes into lefthanded hitters and breaks away from righthanders.

The Mules backed the pitching with 13 base hits. Five players had two hits apiece.

Bernie put the game away in the first time at bat. The Mules collected seven hits including a double by White and Daughtery and a two-run homer by Walker. The Mules scored three more in the second.

Walker hit his second homer of the game with one on and the Mules led 10-0 after two innings.

Bernie scored again in the third and Richland scored an unearned run in the third.

Richland was able to cross the plate again in the fourth and a single run in the fifth. Bernie scored in the sixth

Bernie will take on Puxico in the final Thursday at 3:30 p.m. with righthander Chuck Owens opposing righthander Mike Hill of the Indians. The two pitchers battled it our earlier this season at Bernie with Owens getting the win over Hill 2-1.

"We have a better team with more depth and more hitters. Hill's tough and we expect the same kind of game with the team getting the most breaks coming out on top," commented coach McGowan.

Puxico had little trouble with Twin Rivers as Mike Hill shut the Royals out for three innings and gave way to Reed in the fourth. Reed finished the game strong allowing one run in the sixth.

Puxico took a 1-0 lead in the first and John Dublin socked a two-run homer in the second. The Indians took a 3-0 lead. Puxico added three more in the fifth. Hill slammed a two-run homer in the inning.

Twin Rivers solved Reed's pitching for one run in the sixth and Puxico scored its final run in the seventh.

"We played an exceptional game considering we have only one pitcher," commented coach Ralph Corse of the Indians. "We save Hill for a full game Thursday."

When asked if the Indians could beat the Mules in the final, coach Corse commented;

"They plan to get four good innings out of Owens". Costly errors lost the game the last time we played and we should beat them with Hill pitching."

Cleveland Holds Off Reds-

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I kicked my self in the rear; that's what I did" right-hander Reggie Cleveland said following a narrow escape Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-1 pitcher had handcuffed the Cincinnati Reds on four hits for eight innings but had to hold on mightily in the ninth to preserve a 2-1 triumph for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Before Cleveland bore down, Cincinnati put runners on first and third with none out on Johnny Bench's third hit, a double, and a pop fly single by Tony Perez.

But Cleveland got Ted Uhlaender to bounce to Ted Sizemore at second base in the key play and Cesar Geronimo, running for Bench, was run down on the throw home and back to third.

With one out and the threat at third eliminated, Cleveland buzzed a fast ball past Denis Menke for his ninth strikeout and then induced pinch-hitter Hal McRae to fly to right field.

"I got lucky and got the ground ball," said Cleveland, who finished with a six-hitter and benefited from Ed Crosby's two-run single in boosting his record to 2-0.

"What do you do when you get in a jam like that? You just pray. You pray that the batter doesn't hit a fly ball, just a ground ball right at somebody like he did.

"After we got the runner at third, it was easier," he said. "Then we had the chance for a double play, and I didn't have to worry about the fly ball. You're always looking for the strikeout, but you can't always get it."

Cleveland, whose rookie season record at Busch Stadium was 9-3, had only the narrowest margin over Reds right-hander Jack Billingham (0-4), who permitted six hits over six innings.

Bench picked on a Cleveland slider in the top of the fourth for his third homer of the season, but the Cards went back ahead in the bottom of the frame.

Joe Torre opened with a scratch hit to third, Ted Simmons followed with a single to right field and Joe Hague walked to fill the bases with none out.

Billingham retired Luis Melendez on a line drive to the mound but failed to get Crosby, who slammed a fast ball into right field scoring Torre and Simmons.

Cleveland, aside from Bench's home run and the late scare, had anxious moments only when Pete Rose and Joe Morgan drew two-out walks after Menke opened the third with a double.

The sturdy 23-year-old got out of the jam as Lou Brock raced to the left field line to rob Bobby Tolan of a double on a line drive.

"I lost my rhythm," Cleveland said of the lapse. "I tried to get a little too cute.

180 MPH Eclipsed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Mario Andretti and Peter Revson were ready to make their first appearances on the track today in practice for the May 27 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Andretti, the 1969 winner, and Revson, last year's pole sitter, returned here Wednesday from the Spanish Grand Prix.

Revson still holds the official Indianapolis Speedway track record at just over 179 miles an hour, set during qualifications last year. But a number of drivers have eclipsed the 180 m.p.h. mark already this year.

Bobby Unser set an unofficial record last month during tire tests with a sizzling speed of over 190.

Two more drivers joined the 180 m.p.h. club Wednesday— Gary Bettenhausen, at 181.4, and Gordon Johncock, at 180.036.

The fastest speed of the day was by Jim Malloy who ripped off a 185.5 clocking in his Offenhauser-powered racer.

Unser drove his Gurney Eagle at 183.3, while his brother Al, winner of the last two Indy 500s, was clocked at 181.2.

Walker Shows Muscle

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Sikeston Bulldogs took advantage of Notre Dame's second line pitching and racked three hurlers for nine hits and four runs yesterday, 4-0. Mitchell Walker blanked the Bulldogs from Cape in the SEMO conference game.

The three pitchers of Notre Dame were Dirnberger, Beussink, and Bladdle. Dirnberger took the loss.

The Notre Dame Bulldogs saved their top pitcher for the finals of the sub-district baseball tournament Thursday against the Jackson Indians.

Righthander Walker scattered two hits. He struck out 12 and walked only one.

Sikeston scored the first and winning run in the second inning and added a single run in the fifth and two insurance runs in the seventh.

Greg Colwick and John Leible were the only Sikeston players to get more than one hit. Colwick went three for four, including a double, and Leible was two for four with a double. Jim Saulters had a double for the other extra base hit.

Clarkton Wins Twinbill

CLARKTON — Coach Bill Hampton's Reindeer won baseball doubleheader Wednesday beating the Risco Tigers 706 and whipping the Lilbourn Panthers 7-1.

Clarkton had to overcome wild pitching by Morgan the starter for the Reindeer in the first game against Risco. The Tigers scored four runs in the fourth inning on three walks, a balk and a double.

Clarkton took a 3-0 lead in the first and Risco scored its first run in the second. Clarkton came back in the frame to score its fourth run.

Going into the fourth with the Reindeer holding a commanding 4-1 advantage the Tigers broke loose for four runs. Swiney capped the inning with a base clearing double and Risco led 5-4.

The Tigers crossed the plate again in the fifth. Clarkton came roaring back to tie the game at 6-6 with two runs in the inning.

Clarkton won the game in the seventh. David Stoelting came in to relieve starter Morgan in the fifth and retired the first six men he faced and eight of the last nine. He picked up the win for Clarkton.

Phil Delong and Johnny McGhee had doubles for the Reindeer, which have a 4-0 record in conference play to tie the Gideon Bulldogs for the lead.

Danny Stoelting picked up the win against the Lilbourn Panthers in the second game. He allowed only three hits. The only run was a homer off the bat of Bob Weeks, who had two of the three safeties.

Losing pitcher Allen and Stoelting hooked up in a duel until the fourth when Clarkton scored its first run. Lilbourn returned the favor by scoring in the frame on Week's clout.

With the score knotted at 1-1 Clarkton came to bat in the sixth. Carl McFarland put the game on ice for the Reindeer with a home run with two aboard. Clarkton added its final two runs in the seventh.

Big Red Add Two

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis football Cardinals added two veterans Wednesday and lost one on waivers.

Running back Craig Baynham was picked up on waivers from the Chicago Bears and the Cardinals signed wide receiver Wendell Tucker, formerly of the Los Angeles Rams and the Dallas Cowboys.

Baynham missed the 1971 season because of a shoulder injury. He had his best year in 1968 with the Cowboys, gaining 438 yards on 103 rushes and picking up 380 yards on 29 pass interceptions.

Tucker was traded by Los Angeles to Dallas last year but was never activated.

Paul Dickson, defensive lineman for St. Louis, was picked up on waivers by the Chicago Bears. He played in five games for the Cards last season. Dickson, 35, is a 14-year veteran who was acquired from the Minnesota Vikings.

Gary Owens Makes Impressive Debut

Gary Owens, former Sikeston American Legion and Connie Mack baseball star from Vanduser, made his professional baseball debut early this week after signing with the New York Yankees in January.

The slugging first baseman- outfielder, a Scott County Central high school graduate, started the season with the Ft. Lauderdale Yanks of the Florida State Class A division with a .429 batting average on three hits in seven trips to the plate. The 6-foot- 3 athlete also scored two runs.

While Owens' performance was impressive, another Southeast Missourian had his troubles. Greg Buys of Kennett, playing with Kinston in the Carolina Class A division got raked for nine hits in four innings, walking two and fanning three while his earned run average ballooned to 13.50.

SHS Netmen Win At KHS

KENNETT -- The Sikeston Bulldogs tennis team won a sub- district match Wednesday afternoon with a total of 12 points.

Kennett was second with eight, Cape Girardeau Central was third with 4½, and Poplar Bluff came in fourth with 2½ points.

Points are scored with each double team winning gets 2½ points. Each single winner gets two points.

The doubles teams of David Hahs and Brad Buchanan and Bill Colwick and Bill Lewis took first place in the tournament and advanced to the district meet to be played at Cape Girardeau against the winners of the Farmington and Flat River sub= district events.

"Our boys did a real good job and everyone played well. We almost had two winners in the singles matches," commented Coach John Heacox.

The doubles team was first seeded in the tournament and won as expected but the singles with Matt Matthews and Hunter Moore were unseeded and weren't defeated until the semifinal round.

The number three seeded player defeated Matthews 1-6, 6-4, 2-6 and the number two seeded player defeated Moore 6-2, 4-6, 6-8.

"The matches were close and a little break cost us the match", Coach Heacox commented.

Four Years For Forged Checks

BLOOMFIELD — Joe Glen, 58, of St. Louis was found to be indigent Monday in Stoddard county circuit court by Judge William H. Billings and pleaded guilty to charges of passing forged checks.

Glen was sentenced to four years and allowed jail time from April 15, 1972, when he was arrested by Charleston police and released to Stoddard county officials.

James Raymond Bolin was ordered committed to the custody of the department of correction for two years on charges of burglary and stealing. Bolin was paroled under supervision.

He was arrested Jan. 4 after having broken into the house of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin, route one, Dudley, stealing household furnishings. On April 3 he pleaded guilty to a felonious stealing charge.

In an account suit, W. L. Stacy received judgment of $3,964.70 and attorney fees of $594.70 for a total of $4,559.40 against Oma Campbell.

Phillip M. Griffet and Wayne Schubert both waived formal arraignment and entered pleas of innocent to charges of a bogus check. Trial was set for July 19.

Effie V. Stanfill was granted a divorce, custody of a child, and child support of $50 per month against Charles Stanfill.

A divorce was given Sharon J. Stevens and custody of a minor child, together with child support at $75 per month, and her attorney fees of $200 against Glen B. Stevens.

Debra Earnheart was restored to her prior name of Debra James after receiving a divorce from Roger Dale Earnheart.

Florian Marsha Cheadle was awarded custody of children and a divorce from Charles Alfred Cheadle.

Closed Store Before Hiking Retail Prices

MITCHELLVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Walker has closed his grocery store rather than raise retail prices.

"Even if I could have raised prices under the law, and there are those who said I could, I didn't think I should," Walker said, referring to President Nixon's economic policies.

"I was trying to comply with the President's wishes and not raise prices," he said. "I want to be fair. I want to make a decent, honest living, and if I can't, then it's time for me to turn loose and do something else."

So he closed his store and auctioned his merchandise and equipment. He has tentative plans to go to work selling for a Chicago food firm.

He said increased prices by wholesalers led to his closing.

"Several suppliers gradually began to increase their prices to me," he said. "Even so, I continued along for a while at the same price, but it got to the point I could no longer absorb the increases.

"So I began to put up the prices on a few items, very few, however, Finally at the last, on some of the meats, I just had to increase my price but I didn't feel right, so my wife and I decided to hold the auction."

Emerson's Earning Up 2nd Quarter

(AP) — Emerson Electric Co. of St. Louis Tuesday reported increased earnings for the second quarter. Net earnings were $15.5 million compared with $14.1 for the same period of a year earlier.

Earnings per share went from 59 to 65 cents.

Sales for the second quarter were reported at $188 million compared with sales of $168 million for the same quarter of last year.

For the six months, net income was reported at $30.3 million, up from the year earlier figure of $27.9 million.

Net sales for the first six months were $356 million compared with $330 million for the same period of last year.

It was reported that Gene K. Beare, executive vice president-manufacturing of General Telephone & Electronics Corp., until recently, was elected a director of Emerson.

1971 Rail Accidents Kill 50

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marvin E. Jones, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, said Tuesday he hopes additional revenues provided by the legislature will help curb railroad grade crossing accidents.

Jones issued a report showing 50 fatalities resulting from grade crossing accidents in 1971 — two more than were recorded in 1970. The number of accidents were down, but non-fatal injuries were up from 118 in 1970 to 145 last year.

The recently adjourned legislature agreed to increase the tax on railroad cars from 1 to 3 per cent, stipulating half the funds would go to the PSC to install warning lights and equipment at crossings.

"With this help," Jones said, "and the cooperation of railroads and other units of state and local government, we intend to do all we can to eliminate grade crossing accidents."

Yard Winners Announced

NEW MADRID - Yard-of-the month winners announced for May in each of the city's three wards by Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman, are Harvey Crest, Highway 61 South, ward one; Miss Dorothy Conway and Miss Marguerite Dawson, 740 Scott, ward two; and John Edwards, 801 Mitchell, ward three.

Outstanding yards receiving honorable mention were those of Albert Edwards, Highway 61 South and Bobby Haynes, 1002 Mill, in ward one; Welton O'Bannon, 1300 Scott, and A. C. "Dub" Riley, 701 Davis, in ward two; and Al Hendricks, 601 Pinnell, and Robert Shy, 879 Mitchell, in ward three.

Mayor Frank Ferrell, seated, has proclaimed this as Youth Week. Jim Robison, right, chairman of youth activities for the Elks Lodge and Gerald Howard, Little League baseball commissioner, view the signing.

Dowd Writes Hearnes Over Firing Issue

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Edward Dowd, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, says he has asked Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to protect state employes from getting fired for political reasons.

Dowd sent a letter asking that Hearnes give his assurance to the employes they will not be dismissed by exercising free choice in this year's elections. He also wants the governor to discipline any state employes who put political pressure n others in an attempt to influence their votes.

Dowd's letter came on the heels of a complaint in Kansas City that five state employes were fired for political reasons. The governor's office, however, has denied it.

Charles L. Aylward, leader of a Democratic faction that is supporting Dowd, charged Monday that five members of his group were dismissed from their state jobs last week because they refused to support Lt. Gov. William S. Morris for the Democratic nomination for governor.

CBS Chief Calls For Open Coverage In Congress, Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, said Monday night there should be open radio and television coverage from the floors of Congress and the chambers of the Supreme Court.

He said this would help restore some balance between the three branches of government. President Nixon, he said, has had 31 prime-time television appearances in his first 39 months in office, most of them without any questioning by reporters.

Salant said the executive branch has the ability to capture the spotlight or make news whenever it wishes but the other branches, the legislative and judicial, do not get to speak as a single voice.

The country would have been spared of much trauma, Salant said he believes, if it had better understood the evidence and reasoning behind the 1955 Supreme Court decision, Brown vs. Board of Education, which knocked down desegregated schools as unequal.

He discounted the criticism that congressmen would "act like clowns" or "nine-year-olds at the ball park" before television cameras.

Salant addressed the annual St. Louis Journalism Foundation Dinner.

On another matter, he said one of the biggest problems facing the broadcast media is the power the government has over the industry through licensing by the Federal Communications Commissio

"put broadcast news out of business" if the government should take a dislike to what is reported.

Salant said he didn't have the solution to the problem but warned that persons in the news media and government should "find some sensible accommodation between the irrestible force of a free press and the immovable object of licensing — before it is too late."

Jack Anderson Sees Pulitzer As Stamp Of Respectability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winning the Pulitzer Prize left Jack Anderson in a reflective mood, recalling a quarter-century of mining government secrets to expose the sins of the powerful.

The sinners have castigated him, somtimes on their way to prison. Some colleagues in journalism temper praise for his enterprise with criticism of his methods.

But the public plaudits came Monday when the muckraking columnist won what he considers "the Academy Award of Journalism," the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting.

More important than the personal recognition, he said in an interview, is that the award signifies a new respectability for investigative reporting.

"I have felt we were writing Pulitzer Prize stories for some time, but we were not respectable," he said. "The fact we won a Pulitzer indicates we've become respectable.

"The young reporters want to do what we're doing," he added. "They recognize much better than their elders the role of the press as a watchdog on government."

The prize was awarded the 49-year-old journalist for exposure of secret White House documents on the Indian-Pakistani conflict last November and December.

The documents disclosed that the Nixon administration's publicly stated position of neutrality was embarrassingly at odds with what top advisers were saying in private.

The papers quoted President Nixon's national-security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, as telling a secret meeting of foreign-policy advisers that Nixon "wants to tilt in favor of Pakistan."

And it was Anderson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column that first maintained there was a link between the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. contribution to the Republican National Convention and the settlement of antitrust action against ITT. Justice Department and ITT officials have denied a link but Senate confirmation of Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst has been held up because of a lengthy probe by the Judiciary Committee.

It was Anderson's reporting that led to the downfall of the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who was censured by the Senate for allegedly converting political contributions to his personal benefit. Anderson was nominated for the Pulitzer then, but was passed over.

The list goes on but Anderson says, "I haven't become cynical. I know the people in government. I know that most of them are decent people. Most of them are basically honest, as honest as you and me."

He says his award may encourage others to believe—as he does—"that the public has a right to know what goes on in Henry Kissinger's back rooms."

A. S. MILAM, left, purchased this property at 318 Montgomery St., East Prairie, and with community betterment in mind, he hired a crew to clean up lots on which he plans to build two new homes and repair one for rent. Others are Eddie Revelle, Ronald Williams, Kenny Treadwell, Earl George and Orb Forrester.

"What good is the Better Business Bureau? Do they ever help anybody but their own members?"

This is a question I get from time to time in letters and from some of the consumer groups with which I meet. They show a serious misunderstanding of what BBB is, what it does and cannot do. Unfortunately, much of the public criticism of the bureau, sometimes from congressmen, sometimes from all- informed crusaders or reporters, has alarmed many people who have no way of checking the real facts.

So as part of the celebration of "Consumer Information Week," May 1 to May 6, sponsored by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, I will give you some brief facts that highlight the real story.

Sixty years ago, when the bureaus were organized, their chief aim was to correct or stop misleading or deceptive advertising and selling. Today there are 150 bureaus, as far away as Israel, Mexico, Canada and Venezuela. And their scope of action had widened just as their geographic reach has.

The main goal of the bureau today is to bring consumers in close to its activities and find ways to serve them.

It is essential to recognize that the BBB has no police power or legal authority to compel anyone to refund your money, or send anyone to prison, or correct appliance or car repairs. What they can do, though, is to check out a complaint, find out the whole story, and if the company or dealer has been in the wrong or made a mistake, try to persuade him to do what is right by the customer. If he persists in ignoring the complaint, or real fraud is discovered, the BBB will turn over the complaint and their information to the appropriate law enforcement or consumer protection agency.

They also encourage people to check with their nearest bureau before signing contracts with unknown businesses or dealers. The New Haven, Conn. BBB says their files contain information on over 60,000 local and nationally known businesses, and they are there to provide any information on file about any of these businesses.

What few of us realize is the enormous amount of work entailed in just answering consumer questions by phone or letter. For example, the Milwaukee BBB in 1970 received 96,950 consumer calls. There are never enough funds to pay for all the help needed to take these calls and to respond properly. Volunteers are needed in almost every area.

Responsible consumers can help in this task as part of their partnership in our economic system. Don't forget -- business cannot do without consumers -- nor consumers without business.

A tremendous amount of printed consumer information is being produced by various BBBs today. It is useful not only to individual consumers but also for teachers, club program chairmen, student management groups, etc. Many of the bulletins from the various bureaus astonish me with their reports of new programs and plans aimed at providing urgently needed consumer information.

For example, tremendous new breakthrough has just been announced by the South Florida BBB. They are now inviting and urging consumers themselves to become full members of the BBB with voting rights and the opportunity to help plan the future of the local bureau.

Annual membership fees are on a sliding scale, starting at $10. For this, consumers get all the information, bulletins, etc., available from the bureau.

I am hoping the Florida bureau, and other bureaus, will offer membership to a women's club or other consumer organization and let all the members share the benefits for one fee.

There are hundreds of good examples of what BBBs are doing. To take a quick sampling -- on our West Coats the Long Beach, California, BBB has organized a most successful arbitration program that brings consumer complainers together with concerned dry cleaners.

On the East Coast, the Long Island branch of the N.Y.C. bureau is developing a similar program. In Philadelphia the BBB has drawn together the city's carpet retailers in a remarkably good agreement on how to advertise carpets truthfully and understandably.

In Des Moines, Iowa, as in Boston, Mass., the bureau has produced consumer fact booklets that are great money-savers.

San Francisco has completed work on ending some vicious "work- at- home" schemes. And so it goes all over the country.

And now they offer you a chance to speak up and be heard. As part of their drive to better serve consumers, they offer you a questionnaire to fill out, giving your pet complaints, information needs, etc. This is the National consumer Referendum.

What you say will decide what the bureau will do. For a copy of the questionnaire check your nearest BBB, or send your request to me with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Colson Strike Ends, Union Voted Out

CARUTHERSVILLE -- A strike by 60 members of the Boilermakers Union 27 at the Colson Plant on Fair Bouldvard in Caruthersville came officially to an end April 17 when the Boilermaker Union was voted out of the Colson Plant by Colson employes. The strike lasted nearly two and a half months.

The Colson plant issued a release Thursday which stated that the National Labor Relation Board, region 14, held a representation election at the Colson Plant April 17 to determine whether the employes of the Colson Plant wished to be represented by the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, Lodge 27, AFL-CIO and act as their collective bargaining agents.

The result of the tabulation of the ballots showed 36 for the union and 74 against the labor organization.

The day following the election, April 18, the strike was called off and a majority of the striking employes have requested an opportunity to return to work. Plant Manager Harvey Hopkins said 36 striking employes have requested to return.

The strike began at midnight, Jan. 31, and a Boilermaker official said the striking employes were requesting higher wages. The strike was nearly four weeks old before an official of the union disclosed what they were asking.

The official said the union was asking for an 80 cent increase in pay over a three-year period ending in 1975. Broken down, this would call for a 30 cent increase the first year, and 25 cent increases the second and third year. This would bring the worker's average wage to $3.10.

In late February the management at the plant issued an ultimatum demanding the union members come back to work or they will be fired and the plant would begin hiring non-union employes to replace them. Approximately 10 striking employes went back to work and Colson hired non-union worker to replace the remaining striking union members.

PhoneCompany Petitions For Rate Hikes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — United Telephone Co. of Missouri petitioned the Missouri Public Service Commission today for rate increases that would bring it an additional $2.96 million yearly.

The company reported its revenues last year amounted to $37.53 million and its construction and operating expeses, including taxes and interest, totaled 26.y2 million.

The company serves more than 119,000 telephones in 76 exchanges in the state.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: nation should pay homage to Hoover; despite excesses, he did great job; even his critics must praise Hoover

Gray Order Filed

NEW MADRID — A Missouri Supreme Court order affirming conviction and 60-year sentence of Dan Wesley Gray for the second degree murder Sept. 12, 1960, of a New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Cletus Phillips has been filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Van H. Sharp Jr.

The mandate also affirms the order of the circuit court overruling Gray's motion to vacate judgment and sentence.

Gray has been challenging his conviction through legal channels for 10 years. He was returned to New Madrid county by order of the supreme court in January of 1971 for a two- day hearing to present evidence on his charge that his statement given to highway patrol officers was not voluntary.

Following the hearing Judge William H. Billings ruled Gray's statement was given voluntarily after he had been advised of his rights, and that he had not been threatenend, coerced, mistreated or overpowered.

Peace Talks Suspended

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam indefinitely suspended the Vietnam peace conference today.

U.S. delegation chief William J. Porter told newsmen that South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, speaking for the allied side "did not agree to set a date for the next meeting."

Porter said the decision was made because of "a lack of progress in every available channel" of the peace talks.

North Vietnam at the outset of the 149th session ignored a U.S. demand that it halt its offensive in South Vietnam. The United States had made this issue the first order of business in resuming the talks last week, after suspending the negotiations for five weeks.

Porter said that the decision not to set a date for a new meeting was not altogether a result of today's session at which he said the Communist side "refused to answer any of our questions." His reference to lack of progress in every available channel was taken to mean that secret talks have also been going on.

North Vietnamese ambassador Xuan Thuy called the allied suspension of the talks a "new act of sabotage." He said the United States had refused to answer questions he had put to Porter asking when the United States would put an end to the bombings, its Vietnamization program, and "respond seriously" to the Viet Cong peace plan.

The stage was set for today's suspension last Thursday when Porter called on the North Vietnamese to discuss "as a first item of business" measures to end the North Vietnamese invasion of the South.

Thuy today ignored Porter's demand, saying talk of such an invasion was "sheer fabrication."

In his speech to the conference, Porter noted that Thuy had not replied to his demands, but then posed a series of new questions regarding settlement of the conference. He gave no indication in his speech what the allied side planned to suspend the conference. He called on the Communist side to "respond to these questions as precisely and as explicitly as you can."

Lasers Will Ease Load On Phone

By 1980 telephone wires will be used more by computers than by people, Dave Hargis, told the Lions club yesterday. Hargis is a public relations supervisor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

This extra usage will put strain on telephone facilities. Current coaxial cables handle up to 25,000 calls, plus the three television networks, the radio networks, and data transmission, all at one time, Davis said.

The only way to handle the future demand the computers will put on the facilities is by using lasers instead of cables to carry phone transmissions. Hargis demonstrated a laser which can carry up to 900 million telephone calls at one time.

The laser is a beam of light discovered eight years ago. The light can be controlled -- made powerful enough to blast through a diamond, or gentle enough for delicate eye surgery. The laser is finding wide applications in communications, medicine, manufacturing, aerospace, and the military.

The telephone laser will be transmitted through a cable made of optical fibers, Hargis said. The cable can turn the laser around corners without any loss of transmission.

Jones Warns Of Critical Gas Shortage

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marvin E. Jones, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, expressed concern Wednesday that a shortage of natural gas supplies would reach critical proportions by next winter unless federal regulations are changed.

Jones, in a letter to Missouri congressmen and senators in Washington, D. C., said special interests in the industry are convincing federal authorities that spiraling costs should be borne by consumers "that will approach the point of being intolerable."

Jones cited two factors contributing to the shortage—insufficient prices set by the Federal Power Commission and the diversion of gas for use within the producing states, where gas firms receive more for the gas than is possible under interstate levels.

The PSC already has ordered cutbacks in natural gas service to new customers in some parts of the state, setting up a system of priorities with new home development atop the list and new industrial or commercial users on an as-available basis.

Pipeline companies, he noted, are advocating the cessation of regulation of the gas supply supply, favoring a determination of price and supply in the market place.

Police Seek To Aid Bike Safety

There were 700 children killed in bicycle accidents last year in the United States. And although no children were killed in Sikeston, police are beginning a drive to improve bicycle safety.

The drive, being directed by Officer Richard Couch, will include a bicycle safety contest, lectures, and parent participation.

A bicycle rally will be held May 27 in the parking lot of the Kingsway Plaza Mall. There will be a decoration contest open for children from six to 14. Prizes will be awarded the winners and all bikes will be inspected by police.

Two bicycles will be given away. To be eligible, children must be between ages of eight and 14, have attended a safety lecture, and have a bicycle safety certificate.

Couch has given safety lectures to students at the Lee Hunter and Matthews schools and will speak at all schools before summer vacation.

He will also give a lecture at 10 a.m. Saturday in the police classroom on the third floor of the City Administrative Building for children who missed his lectures at the schools and for parents. Lectures will be held again May 13 and 20.

Couch says the program cannot succeed without parental help. It will be up to the parents to remind the children of safety laws, Couch says.

Charge Denied

CHARLESTON — Mrs. Ilene Powell, 33, Charleston, was arrested at 6 p.m. Wednesday by Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons and appeared this morning in magistrate court on a felony charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license.

Judge T. J. Brown, Jr., set May 25 as preliminary hearing date after Mrs. Powell entered a plea of innocent.

Mrs. Powell was accused of selling mixed drinks to agents of the Missouri Liquor Control department April 6 at the Storming Bull restaurant on West Marshall.

She was released on $1,000 bond.

Ichord Eyed For FBI Post

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — (AP) — Washington sources reported today Missouri's Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Houston, is "one of the top two or three" being considered by President Nixon to succeed the late J. Edgar Hoover as head of the FBI.

Ichord, 45, is chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, formerly the House Un-American Activities Committee. At the time he was appointed he was the youngest committee chairman in Congress.

He is serving his sixth term as representative from Central Missouri's 8th congressional District and is running for re-election.

Ichord formerly was speaker of the Missouri House. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri law school where he was an instructor in accounting and business law. He is a Navy veteran of World War II

Prices Of Major U.S. Firms Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Prices charged by over half the nation's largest firms have been frozen, and the Price Commission is notifying the companies to file overdue reports or face price rollbacks and possible fines.

The commission, ordering the freeze Wednesday, estimated that nearly 1,600 firms have not filed reports on their economic status, the most recent of which were due Monday.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said the commission also will notify each delinquent firm that unless it files a report within five working days, the commission will cut its prices and ask the Justice Department to take court action that could lead to fines of up to $2,500.

Commission rules generally require firms with more than $50 million in yearly sales to file reports every three months. Firms that raise prices must give details, and firms that haven't must say so.

By last Monday, all such firms should have filed at least one report. Grayson estimated there are 2,954 firms required to file reports, but that only 1,375 have done so. He did not name the delinquent ones, but a commission spokesman said a list would be released in a few days.

Grayson also said the commission decided this week not to change regulations exempting food prices from President Nixon's economic controls, but will ask for stepped-up enforcement of existing rules and will watch food supplies closely to forecast possible problems.

The commission held public hearings on food costs a few weeks ago, and Grayson said action would be taken unless a sharp rise in food prices slackened. Since then, Grayson said, the commission has seen "sufficient easing" in food prices.

He announced also that the commission reaffirmed its rule limiting firms that desire to raise prices to specific profit margins. But it rejected, 4 to 2, a proposal to apply the profit margin limit to firms that have held prices steady, he said.

And he said a new regulation has gone into effect to require manufacturers to pass along productivity gains to customers as lower prices.

Parts Taken From Mower

Greg Comer, 218 Collins, St., reported to police last night that thieves stole a gas tank and carburetor worth $15 from his lawn mower Tuesday night.

Comer said his mower was in his back yard at the time of the theft.

Harris Again Eludes Police

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Willie "WeWe" Harris has escaped again from police. This time it was yesterday afternoon in Cape Girardeau.

Harris escaped from two Sikeston policemen Sunday with the help of a woman and Harris' younger brother.

Harris is wanted on felonious assault charges stemming from the April 15 beating of a Benton man a the Community Club.

Harris was spotted walking down the street by four Cape Girardeau policemen and Scott County Sheriff's Deputy Dave Sander. Sander stepped out of the car in which they were riding and ordered Harris to stop.

He didn't. "All he showed me were his heels," Sander said. Harris darted between two buildings and disappeared.

Charleston police say they have been told Harris is believed to be heading for Charleston. They say he is now believed to be armed.

Popular Music Festival Sunday

Sikeston high school concert choirs will present their second annual festival of popular music Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the high school cafetorium.

The choirs will be assisted by the high school Moderne Chorale, members of the Southeast Missouri all-district choir, and other attractions.

The concert will be under direction of Gordon Beaver assisted by Bonnie Harris, Laretha Harris, Melodie Powell, and Martha Entrekin, accompanists.

Each choir will present numbers from Broadway shows and musicals — "Funny Girl," "The Wizard of Oz," "Oliver," "The Fantasticks," "West Side Story," and "Hair."

The Moderne Chorale will sing popular numbers including "As Long As He Needs Me," "Shoo Fly Pie," and "Who Can I Turn To?"

The district choir, 93 singers from area schools, sang during the choral festival in March at Cape Girardeau. Twenty Sikeston singers were in this group. The accompanist was Miss Harris.

These singers will present "An Answer For Our Time," with Chuck Hanna as guitarist, and "Swing Chariot," with Dennis Overbey as tenor soloist.

Members are Gloria Garrett, Karla Dixon, Sondra Stewart, Sheryl Baker, Brenda Ray, Gail Dyer, Maida Harrington, Rebecca Perrin, Julia Summers, Darrell Barksdale, Randy Couch, Steve Hampton, Dennis Overbey, Steve Waters, Chuck Hanna, Brad Buchanan, Don Davidson, Glen Guttenfelder, Riki LaPlant, and Wayne Sanderson.

Solos will be performed by Mike Limbaugh, Mike Grigery, Darrell Barksdale, Dennis Overbey, and Larry Johnson. Steve Waters and Chuck Hanna will provide guitar accompaniment on some numbers.

South Viet Launch Counterattack

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops launched their first counterattack today since the enemy began an offensive 36 days ago. At the same time, the government and the United States began a crash program aimed at reversing military defeats.

Several hundred South Vietnamese paratroopers made a combat assault in the central highlands in an effort to clear North Vietnamese from the Chu Pa mountain pass on Highway 14 between Kontum and Pleiku. They sought to reopen the highway, a vital supply route.

Field reports said 40 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the initial fighting.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Pleiku that the combat assault was made eight miles south of Kontum and 19 miles north of Pleiku.

The South Vietnamese paratroopers ran into enemy resistance shortly after being landed by helicopters and at dusk, fighting was still reported.

The Saigon command said fighting countrywide had slackened off to its lowest level of the North Vietnamese offensive. Sightings of truck convoys, however, indicated that the enemy was pausing again to regroup and resupply for another wave of assaults. The old imperial capital of Hue was believed the man target.

Ever since the enemy launched its offensive March 30, the South Vietnamese have been on the defensive, either retreating or barely holding onto positions.

The United States launched a top priority program to replace heavy South Vietnamese equipment losses sustained in a series of setbacks on the northern front and in the central highlands.

The first shipment of U.S.made M48 tanks overhauled in Japan arrived at the northern city of Da Nang.

At the same time, a team of Pentagon experts flew to Saigon to insure that the South Vietnamese have adequate equipment to fight back against an arsenal of new Soviet-made weapons being used by the North Vietnamese.

President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered police and combat troops to "shoot on the spot" anyone engaging in terrorism or public disturbances. Captured enemy documents indicate that Viet Cong terrorist attacks and civil disruptions are planned during the offensive.

The U.S. Command, in another of its periodic reports on the air war, said 500 strikes were flown by Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers over North Vietnam in the past five days.

The Command said that preliminary bomb damage assessment indicates more than 92 North Vietnamese supply trucks and seven tanks were either destroyed or damaged in raids above the demilitarized zone.

DUBIOUS
DIALECTICS

Ask a Marxist - Socialist why he does what he does, and he will tell you that he is abiding by "the infallible science of Dialectics," allegedly discovered by their mental and spiritual leader, Karl Marx.

Unfortunately, not everyone can make very much sense out of "dialectics," but never mind; the comrades still claim to explain everything in the world by their pseudo-science. And if you still don't understand it, that simply means that you are not qualified to be a member of the Intellectual Elite, (themselves) who are destined to rule the world.

The Freedom Leadership Foundation, a splendid group of freedom - loving youth in Washington, D. C., recently passed on an enlightening "explanation" of dialectics, they in turn having received it from Dr. Sanford I. Berman, and we pass it on to you:

Some peasants, the story goes, once came to their priest and asked him what dialectics are.

"It is difficult to explain," the priest said, "but suppose two men, one clean and the other dirty, came here. I offer them a bath. Which one will take it?"

"The dirty one," the peasants replied.

"No," said the priest, "The clean one, because he is accustomed to bathe. The other attaches no value to it."

"Now who would take the bath?" the priest asked.

"The clean one," was the answer.

"No," said the priest, "the dirty one, because he needs it. Now who would take it?"

"The dirty one," replied the peasants.

"No," said the priest, "both of them for the clean one is accustomed to bathe, and the dirty one requires it."

"Now," said the priest, "which one would take the bath?"

Both," replied the peasants.

"No, neither, for the dirty one isn't used to bathing, and the clean one doesn't need it."

"But, Father," the confused peasants interrupted, "each time you say something different, and each time it is the answer which suits your arguments."

"Ah, my children," replied the priest. "Now you know what dialectics are!"

THE NEW/OLD
LOTTERY SCHEME

On Monday, May 8, a new millionaire will join the select group of moneyed Americans. This particular fortune will come not from hard work, ingenuity or a rich benefactor but from the first $1 million drawing in the Massachusetts state lottery. The only effort required of the winner is the purchase of a 50-cent ticket available at retail outlets.

Since 1964, six states -- New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts -- have authorized lotteries to raise public funds. All now hold weekly drawings and charge 50 cents a ticket. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts offer weekly prizes of $50,000 and special million-dollar drawings about once a month. The money derived from the lotteries -- minus prizes, promotion and administrative expenses -- is turned over to the state governments. In Massachusetts, 40 per cent of the gross amount collected -- about $30 million a year -- will be distributed to 351 cities and towns.

The six lotteries now operating and the dozen or so more that are expected to be approved in the next few years have revived an old and popular method of raising public revenues. The settlement of Virginia was largely financed by lotteries in England. All 13 original colonies authorized lotteries as a voluntary form of taxation. The proceeds helped establish Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Dartmouth, Princeton and William and Mary. By 1830, lotteries were collecting an estimated $60 million a year, five times more than the entire federal budget. But swindles, embezzlement and corruption of public officials became so common that, by the end of the 19th century, all states had either outlawed or discontinued their lotteries.

The primary impetus behind legalization is the need for additional sources of state revenue. Some enthusiasts insist that government - operated lotteries will also hurt crime- controlled gambling rackets. But Ernest T. Bird, director of the New York lottery, warns states not to expect too much. "We have no hard evidence that our lottery has hurt the illegal numbers racket. But at least we offer the opportunity to those of its patrons who might wish to divert their money to legal channels for the public good, instead of lining the pockets of the criminal element."

It is about time that a lot of grown-ups, especially political and the heads of our educational systems, from the primary grades to our colleges, took a good look at what they are failing to teach, namely, pride in the United States of America, its constitutional government and individual opportunity under our economic system.

What can be expected of our young people when in political circles they continually hear attacks on U. S. enterprise? Rarely is there a word about the merit of the U. S. free market, capitalistic system that has made our progress possible.

No wonder our young people are confused. Try to find a speech by a congressman, a college president or a school superintendent that forthrightly stands up for fundamental principles that underly our free enterprise system as contrasted with an all-powerful bureaucracy that smothers individual opportunity. They seem afraid to support our heritage.

Don't blame young people for downgrading our constitutional government. They are simply reflecting a lack of understanding which results from failure of leadership in our schools and legislative halls to glorify the individual freedom and opportunity that were given us by our forefathers, instead of serfdom and dependence under a socialized state.

The American Medical News notes that, "Mortality rates for men are turning upward, while those for women appear to be leveling off or going down, according to a report from the National Center for Health Statistics. The trend for excess mortality for men, moving upward throughout the century, appeared to level off during the mid-1950s, then turned upward again during the 1957-68 period. The report said, the 'excess mortality for the resident population of the United States has contributed to the sharp decline in the sex ratio (male persons to 100 female persons). This ratio dropped from 106 in 1910 to 95 by 1970.'"

SOFT JUDGES MAKE
HARDENED CRIMINALS

Much too much sympathy is wasted in this country on criminals; and there is far, far too little concern for the victims they murder, rob, rape, beat and burn. Almost every day you read about some vicious human, freed on a ridiculous technicality, or turned loose after serving only a fraction of his sentence. And then the awful sequel — another victim of that same criminal who should not have been free to murder and burn and rob again.

For too many years the trend in this nation has been to permissiveness without punishment — too much ease and too little responsibility.

This country still belongs to those people who worked to build it, not to the shiftless who contribute nothing yet demand they be taken care of. It is high time the men and women who do the work and pay the taxes and carry the responsibility said a loud NO to those who are destroying the decency and dignity and future of America.

ADULT TRIALS
FOR FELONIES

J. Edgar Hoover, testifying before the House Appropriations Committee, has advocated a policy long ago advanced by The Globe-Democrat. It is this:

A youth who is old enough to commit a serious crime is old enough to be tried as an adult.

"Many times juvenile authorities will not yield a youth for trial as an adult in serious felony cases such as rape," the FBI director testified. "I think they should be tried as felons where they have committed felonies... I would like to see the juvenile age reduced to 15."

Hoover is right.

Most of the vicious street crimes, particularly attacks upon women, are committed by young punks who too often escape proper punishment because they are classed as juveniles.

Years ago The Globe-Democrat, protesting the protection given to young hoodlums, commented that a boy who is old enough to commit rape is old enough to get his name in the paper.

Hoover would make the prosecution fit the crime, rather than grant automatic immunity to offenders because they are below a certain age. The Globe-Democrat agrees 100 per cent with the FBI chief. — Globe-Democrat.

DEFLATION?

The successful bid by R. Clinton Construction Co., Sikeston, to build a new Highway 13 bridge adjacent road work at Osceola is the second contract let this year on the Harry S. Truman Reservoir project which is below the government's estimate.

The estimate on the 1,050 foot steel and concrete bridge and 1.4 mile of new road and by-pass was $2,238,948.20.

Clinton's bid was $1,826,750.80.

The other contract below-estimate was the Highway 83 relocation in Benton County.

Prior to these two bids the project had been caught up in what appeared to be an endless spiral of inflation.

Let's hope Congress will vote an appropriation this year which will speed the project to a timely completion. — Clinton Daily Democrat.

WHAT WE DON'T KNOW

My text today is that what we don't know may be far more important than what we do. This doesn't come out of the Bible but out of my own experience and of my reading of history.

Like just about everybody else I know, I get an enormous thrill out of our moon shots. Right down to the last second I get it out of the blastoff from Cape Kennedy. And I get it even more at the last possible second, on the moon when what looks like a still picture of the lunar module in a black and white landscape takes off in one rush for its return to earth.

What are we to learn from all this? There's one thing that probably occurs to a lot of people. If Apollo XVI can take off on the second, why can't the 5:45 for Babylon?

I can recall some wonderful suggestions that were first made when the moon shots were first scheduled. The moon might consist of valuable ores. Conceivably they might be ferried back to the utter enrichment of us earth folk. Or some other planet might be.

Now this was all a little silly. Who hasn't uttered the thought, in his younger days, that when he escorted a lovely young girl out onto the terrace between dances, that the moon might not indeed be solid gold?

Well, it didn't happen that way. But suppose it had? What would be the dollar on earth today if it were? Or suppose the 40-pound rock our astronauts picked up earlier this week had turned out to be a solid diamond and they had told Mission Control that there were lots of others like it on the landscape?

Now as I figure it, a diamond of this weight would be enough to wreck not only the diamond market itself but a lot of marital engagements.

But that is only if you assume things happen that way. The astronauts have discovered neither gold nor diamonds. But neither did Columbus discover what he was looking for, which was a short way from Spain to the East Indian supplies of spices. What he did find was a vast land barrier that stood implacably between him and what he wanted. He never found a way around it, although others, including Magellan, did.

Columbus didn't discover the Western Hemisphere, as it turned out later. But he managed to convince the courts of Spain and Western Europe that it was actually there. And what he ran upon turned out to be far more valuable than the entire reach of the hemisphere would have turned out to be if it was made of gold or of solid diamonds. For centuries thereafter it absorbed Europe's poor and then went on to become the center of the world's productive capacity, its technology and its wealth.

That is why I stand by the space shots. I don't know what, if anything, they are going to produce. But I do know that what we may be looking for today may not be what we are going to need tomorrow. It may now be out there. How are we ever going to find out if we don't, like Columbus, at least go out and look? — Eric Ridder.

IT SEEMS, according to official declaration in China, the one thing which keeps our countries apart is the war in Southeast Asia. In other words, if we would get out and let North Vietnam overrun South Vietnam, everything would be lovely. And we regret to say a lot of our candidates for office think it would be fine for us to get out and let the Communists go in. We can't understand their feeling that it is all right for North Vietnam and its allies to invade South Vietnam, but wrong for us to help South Vietnam maintain its independence. — Shelbina Democrat.

RED MILITARY TACTICS

The true bankruptcy of communist military power in Indochina is revealed in the recent news, not widely printed, that North Vietnamese soldiers obviously are not the dedicated enthusiasts they once were made out to be. In the wreckage of a heavy Russian tank, knocked out near Saigon by South Vietnamese guns and U.S. air power, observers discovered the North Vietnamese Army driver chained to his post.

Without this complex and heavy Russian military equipment, there would be no communist invasion of South Vietnam. Despite the massive influx of complex missile systems, anti-aircraft and other heavy artillery, trucks by the thousands and other munitions, the North Vietnamese Reds must chain unwilling conscripts to their tanks to force them to fight.

The communists now have committed all their trained regular army divisions to the invasion of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Seasoned military observers doubt that the Reds would have done this without belief that anti-U.S. pressure would prevent effective U.S. military retaliation.

There is no General MacArthur on hand to conceive a brilliant "end run" like the Inchon landing in Korea behind he invading communists armies. The Reds thought they were safe in their new Indochina invasions. They did not even try to hide their big supply dumps and truck convoys in the Hanoi-Haiphong ares of North Vietnam, assuming that the U.S. would not dare bomb them. Now the reluctant invading armies are in desperate trouble and the pro-communist spokesman in the non-communist world are going all out to save them by blackmailing the U.S. military into abandoning the air bombardments and allowing the invasion to succeed. Freedom enthusiasts can point up these facts and strike a tough blow against communism.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Inside White House: new phase 2-1/2 wage, price decontrols seen withering away in a year

WASHINGTON — One of the President Nixon's intimates who has been at his chief's side for decades refers to himself with a soft chuckle as a semiskilled wit. When asked for the full significance of the sudden decontrolling of 5 million firms and 19 million workers, he retorted: "Take it at phase value."

Which I took to mean we're now in Phase Two and a Half edging towards Phase Three. This, if Mr. Nixon is reelected, will come exactly one year from now, says another of Mr. Nixon's advisers, 42-year-old Prof. Arnie Weber whose mind is much like a 21st-centruy sophisticated computer and who has a wit like a rehoned guillotine.

This university of Chicago professor, son of an electrical worker, has been the one-man operational force behind President's economic stabilization campaign. His prediction, therefore, is as scientific as any forecast can be.

In effect, Arnie Weber said to a small group the other day that the whole Pay Board-Price Commission -Cost of Living complex with expire with the Stabilization Act -- April 30, 1973 -- and be replaced with a "jawboning" incomes policy and a consensus-taking board of some sort. This, I believe, will mean bringing labor and management chiefs together, placing around their usually broad shoulders the cloak of responsibility and telling them to come up with some self-restraint.

This sort of "sit-down" is what the President has been seeking. Back on Dec. 6, 1971, Mr. Nixon called in his Quadriad (four-man braintrust) including George Shultz, the home front's Henry Kissinger, and Cost of Living Council director Don Rumsfeld) and told them to begin studying the easing of Phase Two controls.

They hit it hard. Computers whirled. Specialists reported. Conferences ran endlessly. And last week they decided they had just the formula. They released it on May 1 while the proletariat of the world was marching -- and George Meany was putting the final touches on his anti-Nixon war stratagems to be discussed at his Executive Council session the next two days. Not the least of these involved th nation's ports.

Phase Two and a Half had to come. Meany's price-watching chief, stern, bald-pated Leo Perils, a veteran warrior of the old CIO days, had thousands of his people reporting in from the big cities on everything from herring to peanut butter, hot dogs and matzoh balls. Perlis began talking of uneasy union multitudes restlessly planning to picket across the land wherever prices had gone up. In New York City spot mass picketing had begun.

These were matched off-the-record White House and Executive Office Building parleys. There could be no effective price watch, of course, with the Price Commission having a staff of 595 backed by some 3,000 IRS revenuers, most of whom haven't had a chance to get after the income tax returns. Nor could there by any real wage watch. Not with Judge Boldt's Pay Board having 174 staffers. During "Korea," there were some 50,000 in the stabilization effort and World War II had some 70,000, including one Richard M. Nixon who worked in a unit under the general supervisionof labor lawyer (now an AFL-CIO general counsel) Tom Harris.

So it was decided to cut the smaller businesses out of the red tape. Thus came May Day decontrols. Now the concentration will be on the big unions and big companies. They'll be hit; prices will be ground down; they'll stand tougher against union demands and the theory is that with the big companies selling at lower prices the small fellows will have to go along.

Thus the IRS, which was spending 70 per cent of its time on controlling tiney firms, now will be handling the large ones to make certain the theory becomes practice.

"With more effective controls on the big fellows," said one of Mr. Nixon's inner circle, "we can have a wage and price control system which would be positively by ending the wastage of time on the little firms."

Thus the nation will move through he election and toward Phase Three-- or the free marketplace. Then of course comes labor's long-planned onslaught against General Electric in May 1973 and later the auto union's seige of the big three auto companies in September 1973 . There you'll have the test of jawboning without tough control laws even the giants. Of couse, that being 1973, it will all depend on who will be in the White House for the jawboning.

That's why the labor movement sees the Presidential race as the biggest sweepstakes of all.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — J. Edgar Hoover died, as he would have wished, in harness.

When he took over the FBI 48 years ago, it was loaded with hacks, misfits, drunks and courthouse hangers-on. In a remarkably brief time, he transformed it into a close-knit, effective organization with an "esprit de corps" exceeding that of the Marines.

Under Hoover's reign, agents were fired for drunkenness, for insubordination, even a few for homosexual behavior. But not a single FBI man ever tried to fix a case, defraud the taxpayers or sell out his country.

This amazing, scandal-free record was accomplished by hiring the best men available, training them well, convincing them they were the best, paying them top salaries, and then selling the public on the idea that the FBI is ready to protect the nation from internal emergency.

Above all, Hoover insisted upon discipline. FBI men, who were able to face down armed criminals, couldn't escape the gaze of Hoover. Small disciplinary infractions brought heavy punishment -- transfers to unpleasant posts, suspension without pay, or outright dismissal.

For his giant accomplishments, the nation should pay homage to the old Bulldog whose grim visage, gruff manner and steel-trap mind won't soon be forgotten.

But we would be hypocritical if we didn't also make note of the FBI's excesses under Hoover. Before he took over the Bureau in 1924, it was used openly for political purposes. He largely halted this abuse.

With characteristic discretion, however, he made information from FBI files available to the right people. And, from time to time, the FBI acted as a political police force.

From the FBI's confidential files, we have obtained dozens of dossiers tht have been kept on prominent Americans. It is clear from these documents that FBI agents have spent an extraordinary amount of their time snooping into the private lives of movie stars. sports heroes, political figures and other public personalities.

Hoover also used the FBI to investigate the slightest criticism. For example, the main entry in the secret FBI dossier on the Rev. Walter Fauntroy, the nonvoting representative for the District of Columbia in Congress is an account of a press conference he called to criticize Hoover.

Fauntroy met the press on January 6, 1971, at the site of the new FBI building. Declares a confidential report in Fauntroy's file:

"At 1:10 p.m., Reverend Fauntroy was observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation exiting from a car bearing a 'Fauntroy For Congress' poster on the left front door.

"Reverend Fauntroy approached the construction site and after greeting newsmen began to read from a prepared statement, the opening paragraph of which inferred that the new (building) was being constructed as a shrine for Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI....

"In his statement, Reverend Fauntroy was critical of Attorney General John N. Mitchell and J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, both of whom were described by Reverend Fauntroy as discriminating against minority groups in hiring employees....."

It is questionable whether FBI agents, in these days of rising crime, should be spared to investigate public figures and to monitor the press conferences of congressmen.

Nevertheless, J. Edgar Hoover, now beyond the judgments of those of us who sometimes criticized him, is entitled to the final measure of praise now being paid to him.

But it should not be forgotten, amid all the tributes, that the FBI has been guilty of excesses. These abuses of power should occupy President Nixon in his search for Hoover's successor.

—South Vietnamese planes have been dumping leaflets like autumn leaves on the attacking North Vietnamese troops. The leaflets show President Nixon posing happily with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai. The message claims that the Chinese have already sold out Hanoi, that the terms have already been agreed upon in Peking and, therefore, that the North Vietnamese are risking their lives for nothing.

—The prospects of a joint Soviet-American space flight have improved. Russian and American space scientists, conferring in Moscow, agreed to try to persuade their governments to approve a joint expedition into space.

Nixon Leads Final Tribute To Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today led the nation in last tributes to J. Edgar Hoover, calling him a giant, a legend and an American institution.

Nixon said the FBI, which Hoover spent 48 years building into a world-renowned law enforcement institution, will stand as a living memorial to Hoover.

And he called on Americans to live the spirit of law and order as a continuing tribute to Hoover.

"J. Edgar Ho over loved the law, his God," Nixon said. "He loved the law, his country. And he richly earned peace through all eternity."

Nixon delivered a eulogy to the fallen FBI chief at the National Presbyterian Church, where Hoover had been a deacon.

Hoover was found dead at his home Tuesday morning.

The 1,200-seat church was filled with presidential aides, Cabinet members, members of Congress, diplomats, and public mourners.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower sat near the President. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew attended.

"One of the tragedies of life is that as a rule a man's true greatness is recognized only in death," Nixon said. "J. Edgar Hoover was one of the rare exceptions to that rule. He became a living legend while still a young man and he lived up to that l egends as the decade passed."

Nixon said Hoover personified integrity, honor, principle, courage, discipline, dedication, loyalty and patriotism.

"We can pay him no greater tribute than to live these virtues," he said. "To love the law as he loved it and to give full cooperation to the law enforcement profession which he did so much to advance."

The service was nationally broadcast live on radio and television.

A private burial service was planned today in Congressional Cemetery, only a few blocks from Hoover's boyhood home and not far from the Capitol where his body lay in state for 24 hours.

In the Capitol Rotunda Wednesday, Hoover was eulogized by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger as a man who "epitomized the American dream of patriotism, dedication to duty and successful attainment."

On Wednesday, thousands filed past the closed, flag-draped coffin resting on the same catafalque used at the Capitol since the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Only 21 men, eight of them presidents, have been similarly honored. Only Hoover was a a civil servant.

Nixon sent a wreath of red, white and blue carnations.

Even as Hoover's body lay in state, an antiwar group, representing the New Left he despised, conducted a protest outside the Capitol, reading the names of Vietnam war dead.

Efforts To Reach Miners Continues

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Dwindling smoke in a mine ventilator shaft indicated the fire that killed at least 24 men may be nearly out, a federal inspector said today as sweating rescue teams struggled to reach 58 miners still missing three days after the blaze began.

Mine officials held out hope they would find survivors because air being forced into the shafts of the Sunshine Mining Co. operation apparently was being consumed below through an air pipe system.

Mine Inspector Edward Adams reported the reduced smoke level but said the carbon monoxide level still was high, however. The smoke and heat were hampering the rescue efforts.

Twenty-four persons were known to have died in the murky, hot mineshafts of the nation's richest and deepest silver producer, where fire Tuesday sent smoke swirling nearly a mile underground.

About dawn of the third day since the missing miners last had been heard from, rescue teams were reported nearing the cavernous, two-story room at the top of the Sunshine's No. 10 hoist shaft.

That vertical shaft, which starts downward from a point 3,100 feet below the surface, provides access to the 4,600-foot level where the missing miners were believed to be, Sunshine officials said.

The rescue units were working from the Silver Summit shaft about 1 1/2 miles northeast of the hoist shaft and had penetrated to within 200 feet of the hoist room when word of the diminishing smoke was received.

The director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, Elburt Osborn, said at the scene that safety infractions found during mine inspections in 1970 and 1971 had been corrected as of last January and there was no reason to believe they were connected with the fire.

The New York Times said today in a story from its Washington bureau that rep rts to the Bureau of Mines showed that the mine had repeatedly failed to meet time limits for correcting safety hazards.

The Times said most of the unabated hazards involved failure to provide proper guards for compressors and similar equipment. It said the inspectors judged that none of the infractions cited in November and January was a hazard constituting an "imminent danger." A federal law authorizes federal inspectors to close mines immediately if they determine such dangers exist.

The pipe for the air system that mine officials hoped the trapped men were using runs through the mine shafts at chest level. Miners carry tubelike wrenches that enable them to tap into the line and breath out air.

A mine spokesman said, however, that carbon monoxide the fire generated would be so concentrated that a man could be killed if he took his mouth from the tube.

HHH Delayed Winner In Ohio

By PAUL G.S. LLOYD
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has won a delayed victory in the Ohio presidential primary election, defeating Sen. George McGovern to win the state's 38 at-large delegate votes to the Democratic National Convention.

Humphrey surrendered many of the state's 115 congressional district delegates to McGovern, whose supporters said the South Dakota senator would stand Humphrey "dead even."

With 90 per cent of Ohio's 12,648 polling places tabulated, Humphrey had 38 at-large votes, 10 district votes for sure and was leading for 28 other district votes. McGovern captured 15 district votes, but 11 of them were by a shaky margin that could change when split ballots are counted. He also led for 49 other district votes.

Thirteen other delegates were won by local favorite sons.

The split ticket vote, however, could change the vote totals, possibly dividing the results. Those figures weren't expected until late today or per haps Friday.

In another Tuesday primary, Humphrey defeated Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in Indiana, getting 47 per cent of the ballots cast and 55 of the 76 delegates to the national convention.

The Ohio primary was plagued by problems—polling places locked, voting machines not working, not enough paper ballots and claims of improper instructions to voters.

Wallace Favored In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) George C. Wallace and a school busing referendum, two of the hottest political items in Tennessee, generated the ballot excitement today in this state's first presidential primary.

Polls opened at 7 a.m. and close as late as 8 p.m. CDT in Memphis at the western end of the state.

Wallace was expected to carry the state and most of the nine congressional districts and all of the 49 Tennessee delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Tennessee would be Wallace's first primary victory outside the Deep South and he predicts it will be a springboard to a northern breakthrough in Michigan May 16.

On the crowded Democratic ballot with him were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. George McGovern, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and seven others. President Nixon and Reps. Paul N. McCloskey and John M. Ashbrook were on the Republican side. Nixon was expected to win by a wide margin.

The busing referendum asks the voters if they favor a constitutional amendment to ban busing for the sake of racial balance in public schools.

Butz Plans Fight-To-Finish Against Food Price Freeze

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said today any federal freeze on food prices will come "over my dead body,'

Butz told a news conference he believes he is winning his battle to convince the American public that prices paid to farmers for food they produce are not too high and that he believes a freeze on food prices can be averted.

Butz met with newsmen ahead of delivering a lecture to a Kansas State University audience in the lecture series named for former Kan sas Gov. Alf M. Landon.

In his address, Butz urged the largely student audience to support closer U.S. ties with Communist nations and to think kindly about politicians.

"I don't think food prices are high," Butz said at the news conference. "That's a matter of controversy, of course.

"The story is getting out. Literally tens of millions of Americans are now aware that a farmer is out there growing cattle or wheat who weren't aware of it before.

"I've tried to get the story across that if we want to keep the food supply flowing from the farms, we've got to get some of the profit out there to the farmer."

Butz said his goal is to continue to push up farm income. He predicted farm income will increase by $1.5 billion to $2 billion this year, an all-time high.

"We're making progress," Butz said, "but it ought to be better."

The Republican secretary, making his second appearance in Kansas this year, said he is pushing for federal legislation to gain bargaining rights for farmers.

He commended the Kansas Legislature for passing what in Kansas has been a controversial farm labor law, which prohibits strikes and secondary boycotts during peak marketing and harvest seasons.

"I think the secondary boycott is a terrible thing," Butz said. "I think it's unAmerican."

Also on the labor front Butz was pessimistic about any legislation emerging from the U.S. Senate Labor Committee to prevent strikes such as the recent dock strike which crippled movement of farm products.

Nixon Names Temporary Successor To Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dampening the potential fireworks of an election-year debate over the FBI, President Nixon has chosen only a temporary replacement for the late J. Edgar Hoover who ran the agency for 48 years.

Nixon appointed L. Patrick Gray III, an assistant attorney general, as acting FBI director Wednesday and said no permanent appointment will be submitted to the Senate until after the Nov. 7 election.

In following this course, Nixon avoids a replay of the stillsimmering furor over his last major appointment, that of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Gray will not have to be confirmed by the Senate as acting director as would any candidate Nixon named for the job on a permanent basis.

Press Secretary Ron ald L Ziegler said Nixon will not nominate a permanent FBI chief until after the election because "he doesn't want it (the choice of a successor) considered in the middle of an election year" and perhaps become the subjects of partisan debate.

Last Feb. 15, Nixon elevated Kleindienst from deputy attorney general to the top Justice Department position and moved Gray up to the No. 2 job.

Neither nomination has been acted upon by the Senate, and Nixon has now withdrawn Gray's appointment so he may hold down both the FBI helm and his present job as head of the department's civil-rights division at the lower salary of the latter, $38,000.

The Kleindienst nomination became embroiled in debate at Senate Judiciary Committee hearings investigating allegations of Justice Department improprieties in the settlement of antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telephone Corp.

There is little doubt that no matter who Nixon would choose to succeed Hoover, the committee liberals would have forced the bureau to face the most thorough public investigation in its history.

Gray, 55, a career Navy officer until he retired in 1960 to practice law and politics, has been a Nixon friend for a decade. He served eight years as a special assistant to Nixon as vice president.

A graudate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the balding Gray spent 20 years as an officer in the Navy's submarine service, with a break to earn a law degree at George Washington University. Upon retiring in 1960, he joined the Nixon campaign staff.

He joined the present administration in 1969 as an executive assistant to the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare before being given the Justice Department post.

Ann Landers

Racehorse Named After Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked to read in the Toronto Star that you disgraced yourself in front of 8,632 people. It seems you were the 2 to 1 favorite and finished third.

By this time you have decided I am nuts, but let me explain. Ann Landers is the name of a three-year-old filly who made her debut recently at Greenwood Raceway. Everyone was excited about her but she was nosed out of second place by Sailing Chance. Victoria Lomac came in first.

The jockey, George Zirnis, claims Ann had a bad position. He says she's sure to be a great racehorse when she gets a few breaks. George purchased Ann after she recovered from a cough and virus.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Claire Robertson, named the filly Ann Landers because she loves your column. I hope you're not insulted. You have a great many fans in Canada, and we wouldn't want to be disrespectful. Sincerely yours ---Winner's Circle.

Dear Winner: Insulted? Not on your maple-leaf, Honey. I'm honored. Incidentally, you'll be glad to know I've stopped coughing and they say I have a bright future.

Dear Ann Landers: May I pass on some information that might save a life?

I was having dinner at a restaurant and I swallowed a large slice of ham. I was unable to breathe and couldn't say a word. I began to panic, scared out of my wits. My dinner companion shouted, "Stand up real tall! Reach for the ceiling! Try to take a deep breath, then bend over and touch the floor." Sure enough, the chunk of ham fell out -- and so did my dentures.

Embarrassed? Not a bit. I was glad to be alive. --- Mrs. T. A. G. of L. A.

Dear Mrs. T. A. G. : Hundreds of people die every year because they don't know what to do when a large piece of meat becomes lodged in the throat. My Harvard Medical School consultants say the best thing to do is turn the victim upside down and pound on his back. If the meat doesn't become dislodged promptly and the person begins to turn blue, a tracheotomy should be performed at once.

Dear Ann Landers: Our family has been invited to a large formal wedding. The bride and groom have been openly living together for over a year.

I have expressed my objections to this way of life many times and now I feel I would be condoning it if I attended the wedding. What should I say in my note declining the invitation? Should I send a wedding gift? The parents of both the bride and groom are fine people and long-time friends. - California Conflict.

Dear Con: I do not sanction pre-marital shacking up and have said so in front and from the speaker's platform. But I HAVE attended the weddings of couples who lived together because their parents were friends of mine. The lifestyle of the bride and groom is none of my business. I hope you will reconsider and not bite off your nose to spite your face.

Dear Ann Landers: I had to laugh when I read the beef from the Wife to the Other Woman who wrote, "I spend household money on the obstetrician while you vacation in Acapulco..." The reason I laughed is because I am the Other Woman who just returned from Acapulco where I ALSO spent money on an obstetrician. The abortion cost ME $500 plus plane fare from Des Moines. I wish I had never met the rat. ---Too Late Smart.

You feel awkward, self-conscious --- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Nitroglycerin Pills Must Be Fresh

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article on angina and nitroglycerin tablets. I have had angina about 2½ years, but in the last year have not had an angina attack. When I lift or work too fast I get short of breath, but do not have the pains I used to. After reading your article I discarded my nitroglycerin tablets. Should I have kept them?

Dear Reader — No. You might as well have thrown them away because if they really were a year old they were no good anyway. Nitroglycerin tablets do not last a long time and should be kept fresh if they are going to be used at all. Anyone who has had any anginal attacks for six months or a year shouldn't be taking nitroglycerin tablets even if they start having chest pains suddenly. The thing to do in that instance is to call your doctor. The reason a lot more people don't have an adverse reaction to nitroglycerin tablets used for chest pain that is really a severe heart attack, not angina, is because they have kept the tablets so long that they aren't any good.

I presume you are referring to my comment that an individual should not take nitroglycerin tablets at the onset of a heart attack. They are quite all right for treatment of recurring angina and have been used successfully that way for years, but they can be harmful to a person who has chest pain.

Dear Dr. Lamb—We know that the thyroid gland produces hormones necessary for life. Would a woman without this hormone die without medicine to restore her thyroid? Does thyroid deficiency affect body function and mental ability? Is it inherited later in life by children born to a woman with thyroid deficiency.

Dear Reader — Yes, the thyroid hormone is essential to life. The fact that one is hypothyroid or has a low thyroid function, however, doesn't mean that no hormone is produced. In long-standing cases of markedly decreased thyroid function some patients can even develop coma. And such severe thyroid depression can lead to "myxedema madness," which means loss of mental capacity due to extremely low thyroid function. Less severe cases are not fatal.

There is no evidence that low thyroid function is inherited. Even if a woman is diagnosed as having low thyroid function after her children are born it is doubtful that she would have had seriously low thyroid function during a successful pregnancy. Women with relatively low thyroid function have difficulty getting pregnant and difficulty in maintaining their pregnancy. If a normal child is born it is a reasonably good indication the mother has normal function of the thyroid.

What's the Law

Stripper Can't Collect For Kiss

By JACK STRAUSS, LL. B.

Roger suffered from a conditioned reflex. He drooled at the mere sight of the small building in which he lived. For next door in the adjacent apartment lived Betty, who had more curves than a French road map. And, while their paths crossed on a number of sizzling occasions, they were not socially involved.

Then one night a series of unexpected events occurred. Betty invited several female neighbors into her apartment for some beer and music and, seeing Roger coming up the stairway, she invited him in. He was still there many hours and beers later when, on the dare of her female guests, Betty did the most fantastic strip tease Roger had ever seen.

The result? The next time Roger met Betty in the hallway, he just couldn't resist grabbing and kissing her. Betty, in turn, had Roger arrested on charges of assault and battery.

"I can't be blamed for what I did," protested Roger in court. "After she did that strip tease in front of me, I thought Betty liked me. I thought I was one of her chosen people."

"I wouldn't choose him for dog catcher," was Betty's answer. "Just because he happened to be present when I accepted a dare was no invitation for him to grab and kiss me."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Roger of assault and battery upon his curvy neighbor?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that for a woman to perform a strip-tease dance before a lone man might imply consent to his later making advances towards her. If he misconstrued the implication, concluded the judge, it wasn't necessarily his fault. (Based upon a 1962 Alabama Court of Appeals Decision)

MRC Plans Hearings, Inspections

VICKSBURG, MISS. — A 950-mile long series of inspections and public hearings along the Mississippi River will be conducted by the Mississippi River Commission (MRC) from May 13-19.

Major General Charles C. Noble, president of the MRC, states that members will hear progress reports from District Engineers in Memphis, Vicksburg, and New Orleans on work being accomplished under the Mississippi River and Tributaries Project. The MRC members will also review the fiscal 1973 budget report of $95 million now being considered by the Congress.

"One of our major activities," Maj. Gen. Noble points out, "will be the five public hearings we have planned. This is where we car. hear directly from the people on what they desire in water resource development, and we are hoping for a good turnout at all our hearings."

Scheduled hearings by the MRC will be aboard the motor vessel Mississippi at 4:30 p. m., May 13, Cairo, Ill.; 8:30 a. m., May 15, City Front, Memphis; 8:30 a. m., May 16, City Front Greenville, Miss.; 4:30 p. m., May 17, Foot of Silver Street, Natchez, Miss.; and 9:00 a. m. May 19, foot of Canal Street, New Orleans.

The Chief of Engineers, Lieutenant General F. J. Clarke, will accompany the MRC from Cairo to Vicksburg and observe the activities of the Commission, which is the only agency of its type in the Corps.

Members of the MRC, in addition to Maj. Gen. Noble, are Mr. Harold T. Council, Greenville, Miss.; Dr. Frederic H. Kellogg, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. Roy T. Sessums, Metairie, La.; Rear Adm. Don H. Jones, Washington D. C.; Maj. Gen. Willard Roper, Washington, D. C.; and Maj. Gen. Harold R. Parfitt, Dallas, Texas.

Staff members from the MRC office who will participate in the MRC inspection trip include E. P. Blankenship, Executive Assistant; Marshall Bush, Chief, Program Development; A. J. Davis, Chief, Engineering; J. I. Boswell, Chief, Construction-Operations; John T. Pegg, Chief, Planning; and Raymond H. Haas, Chief, Channel Improvement.

First St. Louis Heart Transplant Doctors Honored

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Doctors who performed the area's first heart transplant operation were honored Sunday night by a group including the heart recipient, Vincent Dobelman of St. Louis County.

Dobelman, 45, was in attendance as the St. Louis College of Pharmacy's alumni associotion saluted doctors who gave him a new heart February 8.

Dobelman was released from the hospital March 9. He said he hopes to return to his job as a meatcutter in about two weeks.

Disappearing Signs Help Isolate Village

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — This windswept village on the Bolinas Lagoon would like the rest of the world to think it has disappeared. Road signs telling motorists where Bolinas is hiding and how to get there have been removed.

Dozens of signs have been chopped down during the night. County officials erect new ones and these too are eliminated.

"Eliminated is a kind word," fretted road superintendent Henry W. Miller. "What they do is take a chain saw and hack them off." He complained at least 20 signs costing $25-$50 each have disappeared in the last half-year.

"I guess they don't want anybody to know where it is," Miller said.

"The people in this town want to feel it's a town, not a tourist trap," declared Dan Deevy Jr., manager of the only grocery store. "Taking down the signs is one solution. And it works."

On weekends and summer days, the main street of Bolinas is cramped with camera-clicking tourists riding bumper-tobumper amid weatherbeaten pastel cottages. Homemade signs point out "Smiley's," the saloon; "Scowley's," a restaurant; and "Snarley's," a delicatessan open Sundays only.

Bolinas is nestled in heavily wooded coastal foothills about 20 miles north of San Francisco's Golden Gate and just south of the bay, where Sir Francis Drake crashed his ship Golden Hind in 1579 after he missed the Golden Gate in heavy fog.

Residents include retired folks and young families who like the quiet and the nearby sea.

In short, Bolinas is isolated, but isolated in picturesque territory just perfect for a Sunday drive.

"We close on Sundays because of the tourists," says Deevy. "They dirty the place up and they only buy potato chips and little things."

Nixon Tops Goal For Troop Cuts

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop withdrawals have exceeded President Nixon's May 1 target by 2,700 men, the U.S. Command announced Monday. But U.S. Naval strength off Vietnam continued to grow.

The command's weekly summary put U.S. military strength in Vietnam at 68,100 men as of last Thursday—a cut of 8,400— and spokesmen said the level as of midnight April 30 was 66,300. President Nixon's May 1 goal was 69,000.

Nixon has set 49,000 as his July 1 troop strength target. At the peak three years ago there were 543,000 American troops in Vietnam.

Three thousand U.S. sailors were added to the reported total aboard some 55 warships in the Gulf of Tonkin and South China Sea off Vietnam.

This total has risen steadily since North Vietnam began its offensive and last week reached 41,000 men. It includes at least 1,500 U.S. Marines standing by for any emergency in getting out American personnel, according to sources in Washington.

Gymnastics Clinic For Teachers Set

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A beginning gymnastics clinic for elementary and secondary teachers in the area will be held from 1 p.m. -4 p.m. May 6 at Southeast Missouri State College.

The clinic, which is free, will be conducted in the Parker Physical Education Building.

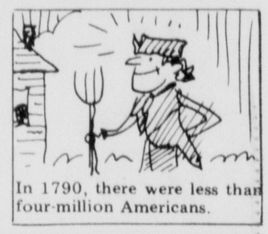
It is sponsored by the men's and women's physical education departments at the college. Coordinators are LaVerne Lauxman and Miss Marjorie Paben.

Clinic topics will be teaching techniques, progressions, and spotting techniques.

"Participants may bring clothes in which to participate or they may just watch," said Lauxman.

Reservations should be made with Lauxman as soon as possible. His office is in Houck Field House at Southeast Missouri State.

On May 20 the two departments will again combine forces to offer a golf clinic for teachers, students, and other interested persons.



In 1790, there were less than four-million Americans.

Bar Group Favors Prepaid Legal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delegates to an American Bar Association conference agree that some type of prepaid group plan is needed to give middleincome Americans greater access to lawyers.

But delegates to the Conference on Prepaid Legal Services concluded a two-day meeting Friday with little agreement on how such a plan should work.

"This thing is too new," one delegate said. "We should go ahead with every type of plan because we don't know which one is best."

Nearly 400 representatives of the legal profession, insurance industry, organized labor, law schools, consumer groups and government participated in the conference designed to analyze the development of prepaid legal service plans—a concept similar to prepaid group medical and health services.

The program is designed to make legal assistance more readily available to persons of low and middle income, those earning between $6,000 and $20,000 a year who make up, the conference was told, between 60 to 70 per cent of the population.

"On one end of the spectrum are the affluent," said Thomas A. Foster of Minnespolis, Minn. "They, of course, can afford the cost of legal action. The poor, on the other hand, have legal aid provided through such organizations as the Office of Economic Opportunity and public defender services."

"Most people can't afford to hire a lawyer to bring a consumer complaint," said William N. Walker, deputy director of the White House Office of Consumer Affairs.

Panel sessions failed to clear up much of the confusion over the various plans already in existence in all but seven states.

"It is understandable why a group legal services provision would provoke so much controversy among the members of the organized bar," said John G. Bonami of New York city. "We are dealing with an activity which many lawyers feel threatens the traditional relationship between attorney and client and might involve the solicitation of clients in a manner hitherto frowned upor by the legal profession."

In New Jersey, for example, the Blue Cross has offered to develop and administer a plan. But this drew fire from several delegates who referred to the group medical service as one example the legal service would do well not to imitate.

Boston Costs Top New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Labor Department figures show Boston has overtaken New York as the third most expensive city for medium-budget American families.

Anchorage retains a firm grip on first place, and Honolulu holds second despite some relative slippage. Small Southern cities remain the cheapest urban places to live.

These are among the findings of the Bureau of Labor Statistics' urban family budgets, updated Wednesday for the first time in a year and a half.

During that time the national average cost of maintaining an intermediate standard of living for a family of four rose 2.9 per cent to $10,971 a year.

The cost of a more austere standard rose 3.5 per cent to $7,214, and the cost of a higher standard, providing more comfort and luxuries, rose 2.5 per cent to $15,905.

Consumer prices rose 6.3 per cent during the same period, but lower income taxes helped keep total budget costs down.

The lower budget provides for rental housing without air conditioning and meals that are nutritious but feature mostly low-cost meat and meat subsitutes.

The higher budget provides for a higher rate of home ownership, a new car every four years for most families and more and better food, clothing, furniture and household appliances.

The figures are updated to last fall. Previous figures were for the spring, 1970.

During the time the costs of an intermediate budget in Anchorage remained at a solid 136 per cent of the national average. Honolulu slipped from 120 to 119. Fourth-place Boston shot up from 113 to 117, overtaking third-place New York, where relative costs went up more slowly from 114 to 115.

Places where costs now match the national average are Baltimore, Los Angeles, Kansas City, St. Louis and Green Bay, Wis.

Lowest urban costs were recorded in Southern towns of from 2,500 to 50,000 population. They averaged only 84 per cent of the national norm. Other low-costs cities included Austin, Tex., 86 per cent; Orlando, Fla.; 88; and Atlanta, 89.

The department gives no figures for farm areas.

THE 34 CORNER FISHING HOLE is flooded due to the high Mississippi river water. Rains throughout the Mississippi Valley are predicted to raise the river stages slightly. The State park at 34 corner has been under water two weeks. The park is on Highway 80 across a levee eight miles east of East Prairie.

Need Cited For Rural Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas said Tuesday there is need for a national commitment to develop the rural areas of the country.

Rockefeller, executive vice president of the Coalition for Rural America, told a House Small Business subcommittee that "We believe that this national commitment should embody at a minimum a national policy statement and appropriate federal programs to implement that policy over the next decades."

He suggested legislation authorizing local investment companies as counterparts to local development companies as a new source of working capital for rural small business development and equity ownership.

He said such local investment companies should be backed by federal guarantees and that they should be profit-making enterprises.

The subcommittee is studying the problems of small towns and rural areas and their impact on small business. It expects to come up with recommendations as to how the federal government can best meet the needs of Small Town America.

The Coalition for Rural America was founded last September to advance the broad interests of rural America and to promote balanced national growth in the United States. Eleven former state governors serve on its board of directors.

Rockefeller said that there is some evidence that rural-tometropolitan migration is waning. But he said such figures do not tell why.

Boys Freed Of Mowing Without Permit Charges

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A judge has dismissed charges against three Miami youths accused of mowing lawns without a permit. He also ordered all records of their arrests destroyed.

Municipal Judge George Pallotto accepted a defense request Monday to dismiss the charges against Pershing "Kip" Qilliams Jr., Rick Sigler and Danny Walters, all 17.

They were arrested April 12 while going door to door and offering to mow lawns to pick up some pocket money. They told an officer they had not bought city identification permits, which cost about $2.50 each, and were taken to jail. Williams' car was impounded. They were released on $55 bond each.

Illegitimacy Up 18 Per Cent In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — With many young Swedes shunning marriage, nearly a fifth of Sweden's babies are arriving out of wedlock.

A "unique" decline in Swedish marriages is pinpointed by Erland Hofsten, head of the state statistical bureau. Nothing like it is happening elsewhere in Europe, he says.

From a high point of 61,101 marriages in 1966, the number tumbled to 39,000 last year—a 35 per cent nosedive within five years and the lowest figures in more than a century.

Hofsten says the decrease in weddings is most pronounced and significant at the ages when marriage normally is most usual—23-24 for women and 25-26 for men.

Illegitimacy rose from 10 per cent of all births in 1960 to 18 per cent in 1970, a record figure.

Why the decline in marriages? For lack of a clear-cut answer a lot of theories are put about.

In general, more and more couples are deciding simply to live together.

"Our love is so strong there's no need for a ring or a marriage certificate," says one couple.

Hofsten opined that the change in social customs "could more easily win ground in Sweden because free associations and illegitimate children have always been accepted in a manner which isn't usual in other countries.

Ingrid Sundberg, a moderate party member of parliament active in family affairs, found the development disturbing. "Children need security," she observed.

Hofsten saw the fact that women's economic liberation has advanced farther in Sweden than many other countries as an element in the pattern.

A gradual weakening in Christian belief and religious devotion is being cited among church leaders.

A state commission has been work ing almost three years on proposals to change family laws—possibly by making marriage simply a form of registration and by easing divorce.

Now every third marriage breaks up within 10 years. Divorces rose from 8,958 in 1960 to 12,238 in 1969. The most common grounds are adultery, alcoholism, a criminal conviction and mental disease.

One suggestion under study: if the marriage partners agree an immediate divorce should be possible. If the couple has children, or if one partner objects, there would be a time for reflection—perhaps up to six months.

Under this thinking the guilty-party concept would end.

Boardman Family May Hold Phone Record

A. Judson Boardman Jr., whose family has had telephone service at 302 Ruth St. since 1909, may hold the Sikeston record for continuous phone service at the same address, according to Mark Rudloff, Southwestern Bell manager.

The 63- year service is the longest reported here, Rudloff said. At the same time, he said, there is a limit to the time a person or family could have had phone service at any address in Missouri.

The first telephone exchange in Missouri was placed in service at St. Louis in April, 1878, Rudloff said.

Prompting the response from Boardman was an item in Telephone Talk, a monthly publication Southwestern Bell encloses with its bills. The item invited readers to top the record of a customer who reported having continuous service at the same address 53 years.

About 600 others from the company's five- state territory rose to the challenge. Most of them reported longer records than the one published.

Mandatory Work Subbed For Assistance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee rejected President Nixon's new assistance plan for welfare families Friday and voted 10 to 4 to substitute for it a program putting the stress on mandatory work programs for welfare recipients.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said the Workfare proposal adopted by the committee would establish the principle that welfare recipients qualified to do so must work or lose their entire family benefits.

However, the new plan would affect less than half the 3 million adults now on Aid to Families with Dependent Children which is by far the biggest of the welfare programs.

About 1.8 million of these adults, nearly all mothers, would not be required to work because they have children under 6 years of age.

The other 1.2 million, with children of school age, would have to register with a government employment corporation and work for $1.20 an hour, three-fourths of the present minimum wage, in make-work jobs provided by that agency.

However, they would be given incentives to try to find alternative jobs in private industry because, if they did this, they would get supplementary government payments which would increase their incomes considerably.

The 1.8 million adults not required to work would remain under the present AFDC program with its widely varying state benefit levels.

The key feature of the Nixon plan, junked by the committee, is a $2,400 guaranteed annual income for a family of four.

The committee's substitute is estimated to cost $3 billion more than the Nixon plan which itself is figured to be $5.5 billion more costly than present law.

Session Ends With Major Bills Unpassed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — In counting up its profits and losses for the session which ended for all practical purposes at midnight Sunday, the Missouri Legislature could look back on a number of major items it did not pass.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who outlined his legislative program at the opening session Jan. 5, claimed 12 of 18 administration measures safely cleared.

Among those he didn't get was a $260 million capitol improvements bond issue to catch up on building needs at college campuses, state hospitals and other institutions. Again, the budget passed this year provided only for critically needed repairs on existing structures.

In the field of welfare, another try at reinstating the socalled ADC-U Program failed. It would have again extended aid to dependent children benefits to families with unemployed fathers living in the home.

That program, according to Hearnes and Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter, worked well in a three-year trial which ended by statute last Dec. 31.

Nor were administration forces able to secure passage of a bill specifically designed to combat welfare fraud—providing penalties for persons who knowlingly misrepresent facts in applying for state aid.

In insurance legislation, the governor's batting average was generally good, but the most controversial proposal in this field—bringing Blue Cross and Blue Shield heath plans under regulation by the division of insurance and assessing a 2 per cent premium tax—died in conference committee.

In education, the ban Hearnes sought against arbitrary closing of schools as a result of levy fights, got lost among other legislation and never emerged. It would have required school boards to get the approval of the state board of education before closing schools.

At the upper end of the education scale, the same fate befell a state reorganization commission recommendation to beef up the powers of the commission on higher education, giving it more authority to coordinate programs and policies of the state's universities and colleges.

That plan was killed in a Senate committee, revived in a much weakened version, but finally forgotten.

And, in an election year, Hearnes' appeal for effective curbs on campaign spending never really got off the ground. Hearnes said current election laws regulating these practices are a fraud.

Other measures also went by the boards, including one stopped by the clock in the House as the session expired. It would have reduced the statutory residency requirement from one year to 90 days, a limit considered reasonable in light of a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing a oneyear residency requirement in Tennessee.

Other casualties included bills to legalize betting, require open meetings of all public bodies—the "sunshine bill" watered down until it became meaningless—and measures to provide for "no-fault" insurance and "no-fault" divorce.

Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, DHillsboro, got shot down on two controversial proposals.

One was a constitutional amendment to return to a oneterm limit for Missouri Governors. The other was a resolution asking Congress to call a national constitutional convention to end busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Also going by the boards was another measure to assure equal rights for women.

Many of the measures which failed are likely to be brushed off and reintroduced next January when the next General Assembly convenes.

PROGRAMS FOR NATIONAL FORESTS IN MISSOURI URGED NEW MO. HOSPITAL UNIT LARGEST OF KIND IN NATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Programs that could have great impact on future development of national forests in Missouri received my support during recent hearings held by a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee.

The Missouri Conservation Department and the U.S. Forest Service have recommended a proposal, the first of its kind in the nation, that would serve as a model for improved wildlife and forest management practices.

Under this proposal, a Federal- State Wildlife Habitat Management Program would be initiated at the Clark and Mark Twain National Forests to improve both wildlife and timber resources in central and southern Missouri.

Among those projects which would be included in this Federal- State effort: construction of 100 small ponds to be used as wildlife waterholes, programs to protect endangered wildlife species, management of some 22,000 acres of grassland habitat, and programs to provide for additional animal forage as well as improved fishing on eight lakes.

This proposal, which includes a request for $418,000 in appropriations, would be the first such comprehsneive program to combine Federal and State efforts in wildlife management.

Another program essential to the continued development of water and other recreational resources in the Clark National Forest is the complete construction of Council Bluff Lake. This would afford needed recreational facilities to a large area of Missouri, including the metropolitan St. Louis area.

Council Bluff Lake is both the largest and the first of Forest Service headwater lakes and will eventually have a surface area of 440 acres, providing water sports and camping, with access to hiking and saddle trails in the surrounding area.

The $1,843,000 appropriations request being considered by the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee for completion of Council Bluff Lake would be a great boost towards development of Missouri's water and other recreation resources.

It was my privilege to participate in the recent dedication of the cardiovascular care unit at St. John's Hospital in Springfield. The unit is the largest hospital unit in the nation dedicated entirely to the care of patients suffering from cardiovascular diseases, and will extend badly needed services beyond the city limits of Springfield throughout the Ozarks.

In fact, based on the coordination developed during the establishment of the St. John's unit, during the coming months the emergency heart care program is expected to be extended so that no heart attack victim in the state will be more than one hour from emergency treatment.

As the major cause of death in the country, heart disease and related ailments account for 54% of deaths annually.

The efforts of the many Missourians who contributed to the establishment of the unit in Springfield make Missouri a leader in providing the necessary services for prevention and treatment of heart diseases.

Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," produced in 1937, was the first feature-length cartoon in color.

Three Rivers To Graduate On May 12

POPLAR BLUFF -- Dr. Arthur L. Mallory, state commissioner of education, will give the commencement address at the Three Rivers Community College graduation ceremonies next month.

The program will be at 8 p.m. May 12 in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

This will be the third year the commencement program has been held in the First Baptist Church, the only building with seating capacity to accommodate graduates and their families, students, faculty and administrative personnel of the college and still provide room for the interested public.

The graudating class this year will have about 130 members.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Be Careful Removing Glue from Leather

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I had a problem similar to Frances's except that I spilled some glue on a pair of shoes instead of on a leather-topped table as she did. With a steady hand and single-edged razor blade she should be able to carefully remove it without harm to her table top. When the glue is removed, saddle soap might be used.—BRUCE

DEAR POLLY—Frances might use a small amount of nail polish remover to get the glue off her leather-topped table. Be careful not to drop it anyplace but on the glue spot.—JEANETTE

DEAR READERS—Leather-topped tables may have different finishes and those with a very shiny, mirrorlike gloss may be slightly dulled from any spot-removal treatment. If the color should lighten, paste wax shoe polish, the color of the leather, might be used on the spot to restore at least some of the gloss and color. A spot of white vinegar on the glue is another possibility for softening glue and then the razor blade treatment would be easier. —POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—How can I get mildew out of a new Morocco leather hassock (saddle soap did not work) and a used canvas umbrella?—HELEN

DEAR POLLY—I have been trying for weeks to get up enough courage to write my Pet Peeve. It is with those people who do not make their children pick up toys after they have finished playing with them, particularly when they are in someone else's home. It never fails that there is always something left to be picked up, but does the whole toy box have to be cleaned out? I try to teach my son to pick up toys he has played with, for how else do they learn? But, of course, some never do.—COVERED WITH TOYS AND DISGUSTED

DEAR POLLY—When making baking powder biscuits, roll out the dough to make a rectangle. Use the inside divider from an ice-cube tray and press down on the dough to cut out biscuits which are even and ready for baking in a jiffy.—LYNNE

NEW YORK (AP) — In the past six years man has assaulted height records of various sorts. He has topped 18 feet in the pole vault, erected 110story buildings, sent instruments toward the stars and stepped on the moon.

But in that same time the old Dow Jones Industrial Average is stuck right where it was in 1966. It has bounced about during this time, shaking loose a few fortunes, but its rebound is like that of a worn tennis ball.

It reached 995 in 1966 and then tumbled to 744. It crawled up to 985 in 1968 and then fell to 631. It rebounded to 950 in 1971 but plunged again to 798 in the same year.

Once more it is back close to 970 but there again the "assault" seems to have stalled. Early in the week it read 957 and some of the stock market letter writers were showing the strain.

As explained by one, James Dines, the market has once again reached that point where analysts are just getting too bullish. So watch out.

"... and with the DJIA now in the area just under the magic level of 1,000 which has spawned so many bear markets, a market correction cannot be ruled out."

When the DJIA nears 1,000 there is a distinct, observable shift from confidence to caution and this time for a number of reasons.

Those hefty corporate profits on which many investors base their hopes are now somewhat suspect. C. Jackson Grayson, Price Commission chairman, observes that some are illegally high and will result in rebates.

That war in Vietnam that so many analysts wanted to write off as a significant factor has now reached a pitch that cannot be ignored by Wall Street because of the threat of significant policy changes.

And those mutual fund redemptions. For quite a while most analysts ignored the repeated news that fund shareholders were cashing in their chips. Temporary, they said.

Now they are not so certain. The redemptions continue, suggesting that the great growth days of the mutual fund industry may have ended. That means a loss to the market of a steady flow of investment dollars to support prices.

All these factors can take on a different meaning over coming days and weeks. Not only will the events change but, in a mystifying way, the interpretation of events might change also.

The caribou is the only deer in which both sexes have antlers.

Senate Okays Pay Patient Treatment At Ellis-Fischel

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Senate revived and passed Wednesday a bill allowing pay patients to be treated at Ellis-Fischel Cancer Hospital in Columbia.

The vote sending it to the governor was 22-9.

Indigents and patients who can pay part of their treatment costs would still have first priority for space at the hospital but if beds were available, patients who can pay their own way would be admitted.

Passed and sent back to the House was a bill that would ban the use of studded tires on Missouri highways between April 1 and Nov. 1 — a measure designed to save wear and tear on highway surfaces.

Also sent back to the House with Senate changes was a bill that would let pickup trucks carrying campers be driven at 70 miles an hour instead of 60. It raises the weight limit on such trucks from 9,000 to 12,000 pounds.

The stage was set for full fledged debate later today on proposals to reorganize the executive branch of state government.

Propose Tax Break For Private Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr. has proposed a constitutional amendment permitting federal income tax credits for private school tuition to break the barrier that so far has blocked government aid to nonpublic schools.

Taft's proposal resembles one which has drawn favorable comment from the White House, but a spokesman for the Ohio Republican said there have been no discussions with the White House on the issue.

In addition to the constitutional amendment, Taft said, he plans to introduce legislation to grant the credits on part of the tuition paid by parents privately educating their children.

Taft's statement gave no estimate of the cost of his proposals.

Attempts by states to aid parochial and private education have repeatedly been struck down by the courts because they violate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Hannibal Opens Molly Brown's Birthplace

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Margaret Tobin Brown, better known as "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" was born in this eastern Missouri town, and her birth place opened for its summer season Sunday.

The building in downtown Hannibal has been restored as an historical landmark by the Marion County Historical Society.

Margaret Brown achieved acclaim when she became a heroine during the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.

Hearnes Still Loyal To Muskie

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has reiterated today his support of Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a question and answer period at the spring seminar of the Missouri Radio-TV News Association, Hearnes said Muskie's defeats in several early primaries had not changed the governor's opinion of him as the best man for the job.

Several primaries and the party's national convention are still to come, the governor pointed out.

Hearnes and Missouri Sens. Stuart Symington and Thomas Eagleton all gave early endorsements to Muskie.

In an address, the governor said there is an urgent need for consolidation of state government. Too often the practice has been to set up commissions and committees which are designed to solve problems but only seem to compound them, he said.

Virtually all Missouri politicians talk about reorganization of state government, he said, but few have done anything about it.

Earlier, Missouri Liquor Control Supervisor Courtney Goodman Jr. told the gathering he believes reports of a natural gas shortage are a myth perpetrated by gas companies in an effort to win support for rate increases.

Official Says '73 Car Prices Won't Rise Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — New automobiles in 1973 will not cost much more than 1972 models, according to a Price Commission official.

Louis Neeb, executive secretary of the commission, said public demand for new cars has padded the profit margins of auto makers to near or beyond levels allowed by price guidelines.

"Thus, we anticipate that the increased demand, and the resulting impact on the profit margins of the firms, will help to hold auto prices down to very low levels," he said, Tuesday.

Neeb was commenting on the commission's denial Monday of $2 million in price increases requested by Ford Motor Co.

The commission also ordered F. W. Woolworth Co. to roll back the prices for its food operations to levels below those of last fall's freeze.

Kelly Wins Title

ORAN -- Sophomore pitching sensation Jeff Jackson, fashioned a two hitter Wednesday afternoon to give the Kelly Hawks the sub- district baseball title over the Advance Hornets, 3-1.

The talented 15- year old eliminated the defending champions Friday with a no-hit performance and had another gem going until the sixth when coach Carroll Cookson's Hornets bunched two hits to score their only run.

Kelly goes against the Cape Girardeau sub- district winner next week at Chaffee. Notre Dame and Jackson are pitted in the final today at Cape Girardeau's Capaha park.

The game featured a pitching duel between Jackson and Darrel Croy of the Hornets. Croy allowed seven hits with errors prominent in Hawk scoring.

Jackson gave up only two hits both in the sixth when Advance scored its lone run. Jackson has hurled four two hitters and one no-hitter. The flashy righthander has a 6-0 record.

"Jackson wasn't very sharp and Kenny Urhahn made good defensive plays as shortstop," commented coach Jim Thornsberry. "Jackson only had seven strikeouts. He usually has 12 or so and he walked four.

"Kenny Urhahn had six chances at short and they were on bloopers in the outfield."

Kelly scored its first run in the first. Urhahn singled and Jeff Jackson smacked a single to center. Coach Thornsberry put the hit and run sign on and the Hornet centerfield bobbled the ball, allowing Urhahn to come in home from first on the error.

The Hawks added their second and third runs in the third. Catcher Glen Green reached first on an error. Terry Deason followed with a two bagger to drive in Green with the second run. Chris Chrismon, Hawk rightfielder, singled to drive in Deason with the Hawks' final run.

Jackson was breezing along with no- hitter until the sixth when Keith Sherman tripled to left center and Dennis Dunivan singled him home for the Hornets only run of the game.

VERDIA KUYKENDALL levels off on a pitch from Gideon's Dewayne Nowlin Wednesday afternoon and powers it over the left field fence for a 375- foot three- run homer. He led the Hayti Indians to a 6-0 shutout of the Bulldogs and into the state high school baseball tournament district playoffs at Lilbourn next week.

Kuykendall Provides Power

HAYTI — Verdia Kuykendall slammed a three-run homer in the first inning for the Hayti Indians.

That's all the Tribe's big righthanded hurler, Randy Gardner, needed Wednesday afternoon to put the HHS diamond crew into next week's district playoffs of the state high school baseball tournament, 6-0.

The hard throwing, fast ball specialist scattered six hits of the power hitting Gideon Bulldogs and chalked up the shutout to give the Tribe the sub-distracit championship.

Hayti meets the winner of today's Twin Rivers sub-district tournament game matching Puxico and Bernie.

The Indians infield defense was strong enough to dethrone the defending champion Bulldogs.

"We played a good defensive game we thought," commented coach Jerry Cecil. "We had a lot of fielding chances to get the double plays to stop big innings and we got the hits when we needed them."

Dewayne Nowlin was the losing pitcher.

Randy Gardner gave up seven hits. He allowed a single hit in each of the first five innings but the defense kept him out of trouble.

The Indians scored their second run in the fourth on three hits with Freddy Booth getting the key blow, a double to drive in one run.

In the fifth inning Jerome Maxie, Hayti shortstop, singled and the next two batters walked. Booth once again singled to drive in two runs, runnihg his total to three.

Maxie, Grant, and Booth had two hits apiece for the Indians. Murphy, Huckabee, and Berry had two apeice for the losing Bulldogs.

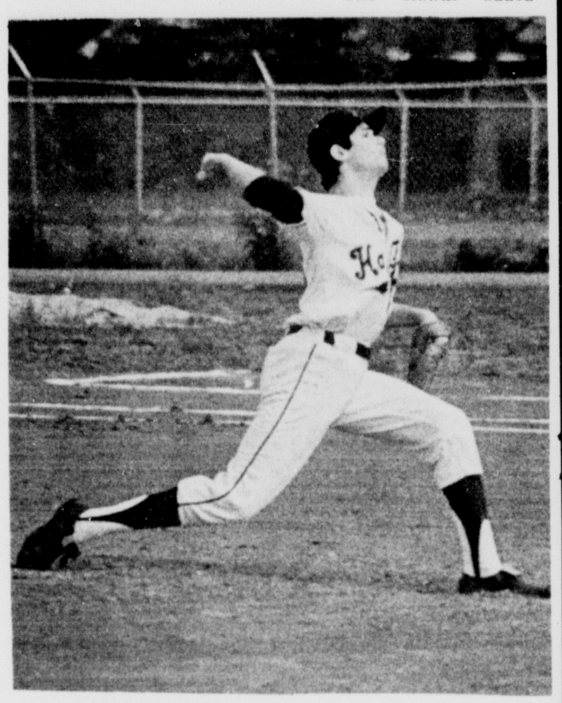
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs optioned rookie lefthanded relief pitcher Larry Gura to the Wichita farm club Wednesday on 24-hour recall.

Gura had pitched 2 1-3 innings in two games for the Cubs this spring.



RANDY GARDNER set the Gideon Bulldogs down on six hits Wednesday afternoon and posted a 6-0 shutout to move the Hayti Indians into the district baseball tournament at Lilbourn next week.

Walker Blanks Bulldogs

BROSELEY — The Bernie Mules and the Puxico Indians will battle each other Thursday afternoon to decide the winner of the sub-district baseball tournament. Each won Wednesday afternoon.

Bernie romped over the Richland Rebels, 12-3, and Puxico beat Twin Rivers, 7-1.

Dell Walker was all the show in the Bernie win. The hard throwing lefthander fired a two hitter and hit two home runs. Walker, a junior, sports a perfect 5-0 record and has a earned run average of .000 for 28 innings. The six foot, 180 pound youngster has a blazing fastball but his best pitch, according to Coach Jack McGowan, is a screwball which comes into lefthanded hitters and breaks away from righthanders.

The Mules backed the pitching with 13 base hits. Five players had two hits apiece.

Bernie put the game away in the first time at bat. The Mules collected seven hits including a double by White and Daughtery and a two-run homer by Walker. The Mules scored three more in the second.

Walker hit his second homer of the game with one on and the Mules led 10-0 after two innings.

Bernie scored again in the third and Richland scored an unearned run in the third.

Richland was able to cross the plate again in the fourth and a single run in the fifth. Bernie scored in the sixth

Bernie will take on Puxico in the final Thursday at 3:30 p.m. with righthander Chuck Owens opposing righthander Mike Hill of the Indians. The two pitchers battled it our earlier this season at Bernie with Owens getting the win over Hill 2-1.

"We have a better team with more depth and more hitters. Hill's tough and we expect the same kind of game with the team getting the most breaks coming out on top," commented coach McGowan.

Puxico had little trouble with Twin Rivers as Mike Hill shut the Royals out for three innings and gave way to Reed in the fourth. Reed finished the game strong allowing one run in the sixth.

Puxico took a 1-0 lead in the first and John Dublin socked a two-run homer in the second. The Indians took a 3-0 lead. Puxico added three more in the fifth. Hill slammed a two-run homer in the inning.

Twin Rivers solved Reed's pitching for one run in the sixth and Puxico scored its final run in the seventh.

"We played an exceptional game considering we have only one pitcher," commented coach Ralph Corse of the Indians. "We save Hill for a full game Thursday."

When asked if the Indians could beat the Mules in the final, coach Corse commented;

"They plan to get four good innings out of Owens". Costly errors lost the game the last time we played and we should beat them with Hill pitching."

Cleveland Holds Off Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I kicked my self in the rear; that's what I did" right-hander Reggie Cleveland said following a narrow escape Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-1 pitcher had handcuffed the Cincinnati Reds on four hits for eight innings but had to hold on mightily in the ninth to preserve a 2-1 triumph for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Before Cleveland bore down, Cincinnati put runners on first and third with none out on Johnny Bench's third hit, a double, and a pop fly single by Tony Perez.

But Cleveland got Ted Uhlaender to bounce to Ted Sizemore at second base in the key play and Cesar Geronimo, running for Bench, was run down on the throw home and back to third.

With one out and the threat at third eliminated, Cleveland buzzed a fast ball past Denis Menke for his ninth strikeout and then induced pinch-hitter Hal McRae to fly to right field.

"I got lucky and got the ground ball," said Cleveland, who finished with a six-hitter and benefited from Ed Crosby's two-run single in boosting his record to 2-0.

"What do you do when you get in a jam like that? You just pray. You pray that the batter doesn't hit a fly ball, just a ground ball right at somebody like he did.

"After we got the runner at third, it was easier," he said. "Then we had the chance for a double play, and I didn't have to worry about the fly ball. You're always looking for the strikeout, but you can't always get it."

Cleveland, whose rookie season record at Busch Stadium was 9-3, had only the narrowest margin over Reds right-hander Jack Billingham (0-4), who permitted six hits over six innings.

Bench picked on a Cleveland slider in the top of the fourth for his third homer of the season, but the Cards went back ahead in the bottom of the frame.

Joe Torre opened with a scratch hit to third, Ted Simmons followed with a single to right field and Joe Hague walked to fill the bases with none out.

Billingham retired Luis Melendez on a line drive to the mound but failed to get Crosby, who slammed a fast ball into right field scoring Torre and Simmons.

Cleveland, aside from Bench's home run and the late scare, had anxious moments only when Pete Rose and Joe Morgan drew two-out walks after Menke opened the third with a double.

The sturdy 23-year-old got out of the jam as Lou Brock raced to the left field line to rob Bobby Tolan of a double on a line drive.

"I lost my rhythm," Cleveland said of the lapse. "I tried to get a little too cute.

180 MPH Eclipsed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Mario Andretti and Peter Revson were ready to make their first appearances on the track today in practice for the May 27 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Andretti, the 1969 winner, and Revson, last year's pole sitter, returned here Wednesday from the Spanish Grand Prix.

Revson still holds the official Indianapolis Speedway track record at just over 179 miles an hour, set during qualifications last year. But a number of drivers have eclipsed the 180 m.p.h. mark already this year.

Bobby Unser set an unofficial record last month during tire tests with a sizzling speed of over 190.

Two more drivers joined the 180 m.p.h. club Wednesday— Gary Bettenhausen, at 181.4, and Gordon Johncock, at 180.036.

The fastest speed of the day was by Jim Malloy who ripped off a 185.5 clocking in his Offenhauser-powered racer.

Unser drove his GurneyEagle at 183.3, while his brother Al, winner of the last two Indy 500s, was clocked at 181.2.

Walker Shows Muscle

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Sikeston Bulldogs took advantage of Notre Dame's second line pitching and racked three hurlers for nine hits and four runs yesterday, 4-0. Mitchell Walker blanked the Bulldogs from Cape in the SEMO conference game.

The three pitchers of Notre Dame were Dirnberger, Beussink, and Bladdle. Dirnberger took the loss.

The Notre Dame Bulldogs saved their top pitcher for the finals of the sub-district baseball tournament Thursday against the Jackson Indians.

Righthander Walker scattered two hits. He struck out 12 and walked only one.

Sikeston scored the first and winning run in the second inning and added a single run in the fifth and two insurance runs in the seventh.

Greg Colwick and John Leible were the only Sikeston players to get more than one hit. Colwick went three for four, including a double, and Leible was two for four with a double. Jim Saulters had a double for the other extra base hit.

Clarkton Wins Twinbill

CLARKTON — Coach Bill Hampton's Reindeer won baseball doubleheader Wednesday beating the Risco Tigers 706 and whipping the Lilbourn Panthers 7-1.

Clarkton had to overcome wild pitching by Morgan the starter for the Reindeer in the first game against Risco. The Tigers scored four runs in the fourth inning on three walks, a balk and a double.

Clarkton took a 3-0 lead in the first and Risco scored its first run in the second. Clarkton came back in the frame to score its fourth run.

Going into the fourth with the Reindeer holding a commanding 4-1 advantage the Tigers broke loose for four runs. Swiney capped the inning with a base clearing double and Risco led 5-4.

The Tigers crossed the plate again in the fifth. Clarkton came roaring back to tie the game at 6-6 with two runs in the inning.

Clarkton won the game in the seventh. David Stoelting came in to relieve starter Morgan in the fifth and retired the first six men he faced and eight of the last nine. He picked up the win for Clarkton.

Phil Delong and Johnny McGhee had doubles for the Reindeer, which have a 4-0 record in conference play to tie the Gideon Bulldogs for the lead.

Danny Stoelting picked up the win against the Lilbourn Panthers in the second game. He allowed only three hits. The only run was a homer off the bat of Bob Weeks, who had two of the three safeties.

Losing pitcher Allen and Stoelting hooked up in a duel until the fourth when Clarkton scored its first run. Lilbourn returned the favor by scoring in the frame on Week's clout.

With the score knotted at 1-1 Clarkton came to bat in the sixth. Carl McFarland put the game on ice for the Reindeer with a home run with two aboard. Clarkton added its final two runs in the seventh.

Big Red Add Two

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis football Cardinals added two veterans Wednesday and lost one on waivers.

Running back Craig Baynham was picked up on waivers from the Chicago Bears and the Cardinals signed wide receiver Wendell Tucker, formerly of the Los Angeles Rams and the Dallas Cowboys.

Baynham missed the 1971 season because of a shoulder injury. He had his best year in 1968 with the Cowboys, gaining 438 yards on 103 rushes and picking up 380 yards on 29 pass interceptions.

Tucker was traded by Los Angeles to Dallas last year but was never activated.

Paul Dickson, defensive lineman for St. Louis, was picked up on waivers by the Chicago Bears. He played in five games for the Cards last season. Dickson, 35, is a 14-year veteran who was acquired from the Minnesota Vikings.

Gary Owens Makes Impressive Debut

Gary Owens, former Sikeston American Legion and Connie Mack baseball star from Vanduser, made his professional baseball debut early this week after signing with the New York Yankees in January.

The slugging first baseman- outfielder, a Scott County Central high school graduuate, started the season with the Ft. Lauderdale Yanks of the Florida State Class A division with a .429 batting average on three hits in seven trips to the plate. The 6-foot- 3 athlete also scored two runs.

While Owens' performance was impressive, another Southeast Missourian had his troubles. Greg Buys of Kennett, playing with Kinston in the Carolina Class A division got raked for nine hits in four innings, walking two and fanning three while his earned run average ballooned to 13.50.

SHS Netmen Win At KHS

KENNETT -- The Sikeston Bulldogs tennis team won a sub- district match Wednesday afternoon with a total of 12 points.

Kennett was second with eight, Cape Girardeau Central was third with 4½, and Poplar Bluff came in fourth with 2½ points.

Points are scored with each double team winning gets 2½ points. Each single winner gets two points.

The doubles teams of David Hahs and Brad Buchanan and Bill Colwick and Bill Lewis took first place in the tournament and advanced to the district meet to be played at Cape Girardeau against the winners of the Farmington and Flat River sub= district events.

"Our boys did a real good job and everyone played well. We almost had two winners in the singles matches," commented Coach John Heacox.

The doubles team was first seeded in the tournament and won as expected but the singles with Matt Matthews and Hunter Moore were unseeded and weren't defeated until the semifinal round.

The number three seeded player defeated Matthews 1-6, 6-4, 2-6 and the number two seeded player defeated Moore 6-2, 4-6, 6-8.

"The matches were close and a little break cost us the match", Coach Heacox commented.

Four Years For Forged Checks

BLOOMFIELD — Joe Glen, 58, of St. Louis was found to be indigent Monday in Stoddard county circuit court by Judge William H. Billings and pleaded guilty to charges of passing forged checks.

Glen was sentenced to four years and allowed jail time from April 15, 1972, when he was arrested by Charleston police and released to Stoddard county officials.

James Raymond Bolin was ordered committed to the custody of the department of correction for two years on charges of burglary and stealing. Bolin was paroled under supervision.

He was arrested Jan. 4 after having broken into the house of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin, route one, Dudley, stealing household furnishings. On April 3 he pleaded guilty to a felonious stealing charge.

In an account suit, W. L. Stacy received judgment of $3,964.70 and attorney fees of $594.70 for a total of $4,559.40 against Oma Campbell.

Phillip M. Griffet and Wayne Schubert both waived formal arraignment and entered pleas of innocent to charges of a bogus check. Trial was set for July 19.

Effie V. Stanfill was granted a divorce, custody of a child, and child support of $50 per month against Charles Stanfill.

A divorce was given Sharon J. Stevens and custody of a minor child, together with child support at $75 per month, and her attorney fees of $200 against Glen B. Stevens.

Debra Earnheart was restored to her prior name of Debra James after receiving a divorce from Roger Dale Earnheart.

Florian Marsha Cheadle was awarded custody of children and a divorce from Charles Alfred Cheadle.

Closed Store Before Hiking Retail Prices

MITCHELLVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Walker has closed his grocery store rather than raise retail prices.

"Even if I could have raised prices under the law, and there are those who said I could, I didn't think I should," Walker said, referring to President Nixon's economic policies.

"I was trying to comply with the President's wishes and not raise prices," he said. "I want to be fair. I want to make a decent, honest living, and if I can't, then it's time for me to turn loose and do something else."

So he closed his store and auctioned his merchandise and equipment. He has tentative plans to go to work selling for a Chicago food firm.

He said increased prices by wholesalers led to his closing.

"Several suppliers gradually began to increase their prices to me," he said. "Even so, I continued along for a while at the same price, but it got to the point I could no longer absorb the increases.

"So I began to put up the prices on a few items, very few, however, Finally at the last, on some of the meats, I just had to increase my price but I didn't feel right, so my wife and I decided to hold the auction."

Emerson's Earning Up 2nd Quarter

(AP) — Emerson Electric Co. of St. Louis Tuesday reported increased earnings for the second quarter. Net earnings were $15.5 million compared with $14.1 for the same period of a year earlier.

Earnings per share went from 59 to 65 cents.

Sales for the second quarter were reported at $188 million compared with sales of $168 million for the same quarter of last year.

For the six months, net income was reported at $30.3 million, up from the year earlier figure of $27.9 million.

Net sales for the first six months were $356 million compared with $330 million for the same period of last year.

It was reported that Gene K. Beare, executive vice president-manufacturing of General Telephone & Electronics Corp., until recently, was elected a director of Emerson.

1971 Rail Accidents Kill 50

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Marvin E. Jones, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, said Tuesday he hopes additional revenues provided by the legislature will help curb railroad grade crossing accidents.

Jones issued a report showing 50 fatalities resulting from grade crossing accidents in 1971 — two more than were recorded in 1970. The number of accidents were down, but non-fatal injuries were up from 118 in 1970 to 145 last year.

The recently adjourned legislature agreed to increase the tax on railroad cars from 1 to 3 per cent, stipulating half the funds would go to the PSC to install warning lights and equipment at crossings.

"With this help," Jones said, "and the cooperation of railroads and other units of state and local government, we intend to do all we can to eliminate grade crossing accidents."

Yard Winners Announced

NEW MADRID — Yard-of-the month winners announced for May in each of the city's three wards by Mrs. Caroline Phillips, chairman, are Harvey Crest, Highway 61 South, ward one; Miss Dorothy Conway and Miss Marguerite Dawson, 740 Scott, ward two; and John Edwards, 801 Mitchell, ward three.

Outstanding yards receiving honorable mention were those of Albert Edwards, Highway 61 South and Bobby Haynes, 1002 Mill, in ward one; Welton O'Bannon, 1300 Scott, and A. C. "Dub" Riley, 701 Davis, in ward two; and Al Hendricks, 601 Pinnell, and Robert Shy, 879 Mitchell, in ward three.

Mayor Frank Ferrell, seated, has proclaimed this as Youth Week. Jim Robison, right, chairman of youth activities for the Elks Lodge and Gerald Howard, Little League baseball commissioner, view the signing.

Dowd Writes Hearnes Over Firing Issue

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Edward Dowd, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, says he has asked Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to protect state employes from getting fired for political reasons.

Dowd sent a letter asking that Hearnes give his assurance to the employes they will not be dismissed by exercising free choice in this year's elections. He also wants the governor to discipline any state employes who put political pressure on others in an attempt to influence their votes.

Dowd's letter came on the heels of a complaint in Kansas City that five state employes were fired for political reasons. The governor's office, however, has denied it.

Charles L. Aylward, leader of a Democratic faction that is supporting Dowd, charged Monday that five members of his group were dismissed from their state jobs last week because they refused to support Lt. Gov. William S. Morris for the Democratic nomination for governor.

CBS Chief Calls For Open Coverage In Congress, Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richard S. Salant, president of CBS News, said Monday night there should be open radio and television coverage from the floors of Congress and the chambers of the Supreme Court.

He said this would help restore some balance between the three branches of government. President Nixon, he said, has had 31 prime-time television appearances in his first 39 months in office, most of them without any questioning by reporters.

Salant said the executive branch has the ability to capture the spotlight or make news whenever it wishes but the other branches, the legislative and judicial, do not get to speak as a single voice.

The country would have been spared of much trauma, Salant said he believes, if it had better understood the evidence and reasoning behind the 1955 Supreme Court decision, Brown vs. Board of Education, which knocked down desegregated schools as unequal.

He discounted the criticism that congressmen would "act like clowns" or "nine-year-olds at the ball park" before television cameras.

Salant addressed the annual St. Louis Journalism Foundation Dinner.

On another matter, he said one of the biggest problems facing the broadcast media is the power the government has over the industry through licensing by the Federal Communications Commissio

"put broadcast news out of business" if the government should take a dislike to what is reported.

Salant said he didn't have the solution to the problem but warned that persons in the news media and government should "find some sensible accommodation between the irrestible force of a free press and the immovable object of licensing — before it is too late."

Jack Anderson Sees Pulitzer As Stamp Of Respectability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winning the Pulitzer Prize left Jack Anderson in a reflective mood, recalling a quarter-century of mining government secrets to expose the sins of the powerful.

The sinners have castigated him, somtimes on their way to prison. Some colleagues in journalism temper praise for his enterprise with criticism of his methods.

But the public plaudits came Monday when the muckraking columnist won what he considers "the Academy Award of Journalism," the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting.

More important than the personal recognition, he said in an interview, is that the award signifies a new respectability for investigative reporting.

"I have felt we were writing Pulitzer Prize stories for some time, but we were not respectable," he said. "The fact we won a Pulitzer indicates we've become respectable.

"The young reporters want to do what we're doing," he added. "They recognize much better than their elders the role of the press as a watchdog on government."

The prize was awarded the 49-year-old journalist for exposure of secret White House documents on the Indian-Pakistani conflict last November and December.

The documents disclosed that the Nixon administration's publicly stated position of neutrality was embarrassingly at odds with what top advisers were saying in private.

The papers quoted President Nixon's national-security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, as telling a secret meeting of foreign-policy advisers that Nixon "wants to tilt in favor of Pakistan."

And it was Anderson's "Washington Merry-Go-Round" column that first maintained there was a link between the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. contribution to the Republican National Convention and the settlement of antitrust action against ITT. Justice Department and ITT officials have denied a link but Senate confirmation of Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst has been held up because of a lengthy probe by the Judiciary Committee.

It was Anderson's reporting that led to the downfall of the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, who was censured by the Senate for allegedly converting political contributions to his personal benefit. Anderson was nominated for the Pulitzer then, but was passed over.

The list goes on but Anderson says, "I haven't become cynical. I know the people in government. I know that most of them are decent people. Most of them are basically honest, as honest as you and me."

He says his award may encourage others to believe—as he does—"that the public has a right to know what goes on in Henry Kissinger's back rooms."

A. S. MILAM, left, purchased this property at 318 Montgomery St., East Prairie, and with community betterment in mind, he hired a crew to clean up lots on which he plans to build two new homes and repair one for rent. Others are Eddie Revelle, Ronald Williams, Kenny Treadwell, Earl George and Orb Forrester.

"What good is the Better Business Bureau? Do they ever help anybody but their own members?"

This is a question I get from time to time in letters and from some of the consumer groups with which I meet. They show a serious misunderstanding of what BBB is, what it does and cannot do. Unfortunately, much of the public criticism of the bureau, sometimes from congressmen, sometimes from all- informed crusaders or reporters, has alarmed many people who have no way of checking the real facts.

So as part of the celebration of "Consumer Information Week," May 1 to May 6, sponsored by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, I will give you some brief facts that highlight the real story.

Sixty years ago, when the bureaus were organized, their chief aim was to correct or stop misleading or deceptive advertising and selling. Today there are 150 bureaus, as far away as Israel, Mexico, Canada and Venezuela. And their scope of action had widened just as their geographic reach has.

The main goal of the bureau today is to bring consumers in close to its activities and find ways to serve them.

It is essential to recognize that the BBB has no police power or legal authority to compel anyone to refund your money, or send anyone to prison, or correct appliance or car repairs. What they can do, though, is to check out a complaint, find out the whole story, and if the company or dealer has been in the wrong or made a mistake, try to persuade him to do what is right by the customer. If he persists in ignoring the complaint, or real fraud is discovered, the BBB will turn over the complaint and their information to the appropriate law enforcement or consumer protection agency.

They also encourage people to check with their nearest bureau before signing contracts with unknown businesses or dealers. The New Haven, Conn. BBB says their files contain information on over 60,000 local and nationally known businesses, and they are there to provide any information on file about any of these businesses.

What few of us realize is the enormous amount of work entailed in just answering consumer questions by phone or letter. For example, the Milwaukee BBB in 1970 received 96,950 consumer calls. There are never enough funds to pay for all the help needed to take these calls and to respond properly. Volunteers are needed in almost every area.

Responsible consumers can help in this task as part of their partnership in our economic system. Don't forget -- business cannot do without consumers -- nor consumers without business.

A tremendous amount of printed consumer information is being produced by various BBBs today. It is useful not only to individual consumers but also for teachers, club program chairmen, student management groups, etc. Many of the bulletins from the various bureaus astonish me with their reports of new programs and plans aimed at providing urgently needed consumer information.

For example, tremendous new breakthrough has just been announced by the South Florida BBB. They are now inviting and urging consumers themselves to become full members of the BBB with voting rights and the opportunity to help plan the future of the local bureau.

Annual membership fees are on a sliding scale, starting at $10. For this, consumers get all the information, bulletins, etc., available from the bureau.

I am hoping the Florida bureau, and other bureaus, will offer membership to a women's club or other consumer organization and let all the members share the benefits for one fee.

There are hundreds of good examples of what BBBs are doing. To take a quick sampling -- on our West Coats the Long Beach, California, BBB has organized a most successful arbitration program that brings consumer complainers together with concerned dry cleaners.

On the East Coast, the Long Island branch of the N.Y.C. bureau is developing a similar program. In Philadelphia the BBB has drawn together the city's carpet retailers in a remarkably good agreement on how to advertise carpets truthfully and understandably.

In Des Moines, Iowa, as in Boston, Mass., the bureau has produced consumer fact booklets that are great money-savers.

San Francisco has completed work on ending some vicious "work- at- home" schemes. And so it goes all over the country.

And now they offer you a chance to speak up and be heard. As part of their drive to better serve consumers, they offer you a questionnaire to fill out, giving your pet complaints, information needs, etc. This is the National consumer Referendum.

What you say will decide- what the bureau will do. For a copy of the questionnaire check your nearest BBB, or send your request to me with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Colson Strike Ends, Union Voted Out

CARUTHERSVILLE — A strike by 60 members of the Boilermakers Union 27 at the Colson Plant on Fair Bouldvard in Caruthersville came officially to an end April 17 when the Boilermaker Union was voted out of the Colson Plant by Colson employes. The strike lasted nearly two and a half months.

The Colson plant issued a release Thursday which stated that the National Labor Relation Board, region 14, held a representation election at the Colson Plant April 17 to determine whether the employes of the Colson Plant wished to be represented by the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers, Lodge 27, AFL-CIO and act as their collective bargaining agents.

The result of the tabulation of the ballots showed 36 for the union and 74 against the labor organization.

The day following the election, April 18, the strike was called off and a majority of the striking employes have requested an opportunity to return to work. Plant Manager Harvey Hopkins said 36 striking employes have requested to return.

The strike began at midnight, Jan. 31, and a Boilermaker official said the striking employes were requesting higher wages. The strike was nearly four weeks old before an official of the union disclosed what they were asking.

The official said the union was asking for an 80 cent increase in pay over a three-year period ending in 1975. Broken down, this would call for a 30 cent increase the first year, and 25 cent increases the second and third year. This would bring the worker's average wage to $3.10.

In late February the management at the plant issued an ultimatum demanding the union members come back to work or they will be fired and the plant would begin hiring non- union employes to replace them. Approximately 10 striking employes went back to work and Colson hired non-union worker to replace the remaining striking union members.

Phone Company Petitions For Rate Hikes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — United Telephone Co. of Missouri petitioned the Missouri Public Service Commission today for rate increases that would bring it an additional $2.96 million yearly.

The company reported its revenues last year amounted to $37.53 million and its construction and operating expeses, including taxes and interest, totaled 26.y2 million.

The company serves more than 119,000 telephones in 76 exchanges in the state.
